NAZIS USE NEW 'COMET' BOMB

Registration Forms Mailed to States

PRINTING OF DRAFT CARDS BEGINS SOON

Local Boards Being Set Up Throughout Country To Speed Conscription.

MORE CASH ASKED

President Urges Additional Funds For Contracts on Defense.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Distribution of draft registration forms for printing began today, with master copies of the first four blanks speeding by airmail to the 48 states where they will be reproduced by the millions.

The forms en route were the first of the series of 64 cards, questionnaires, placards, booklets and the like which will be needed in the huge task of enrolling 16,500,000 men next month and selecting some of them for military service. The ultimate cost of all draft printing is estimated at $1,500,000.

Preparing in advance for the operation of the draft organization which the president is expected to call into official being today, army and navy selective service officials estimated that 32,000,000 registration cards, 24,000,000 registration certificates and 24,000,000 questionnaires would be required.

As the printing orders went out, state draft organizations already were taking form in anticipation of presidential action. Illinois named 284 three-man draft boards subject to official appointment by Mr. Roosevelt. Other states were believed pursuing similar courses.

A house appropriations subcommittee, meanwhile, called Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, to testify at a closed hearing today on President Roosevelt's request on funds for starting the draft.

Mr. Roosevelt asked an additional $1,733,886,976 cash and $207,000,000 contract authorizations for the army, navy and other government branches par-

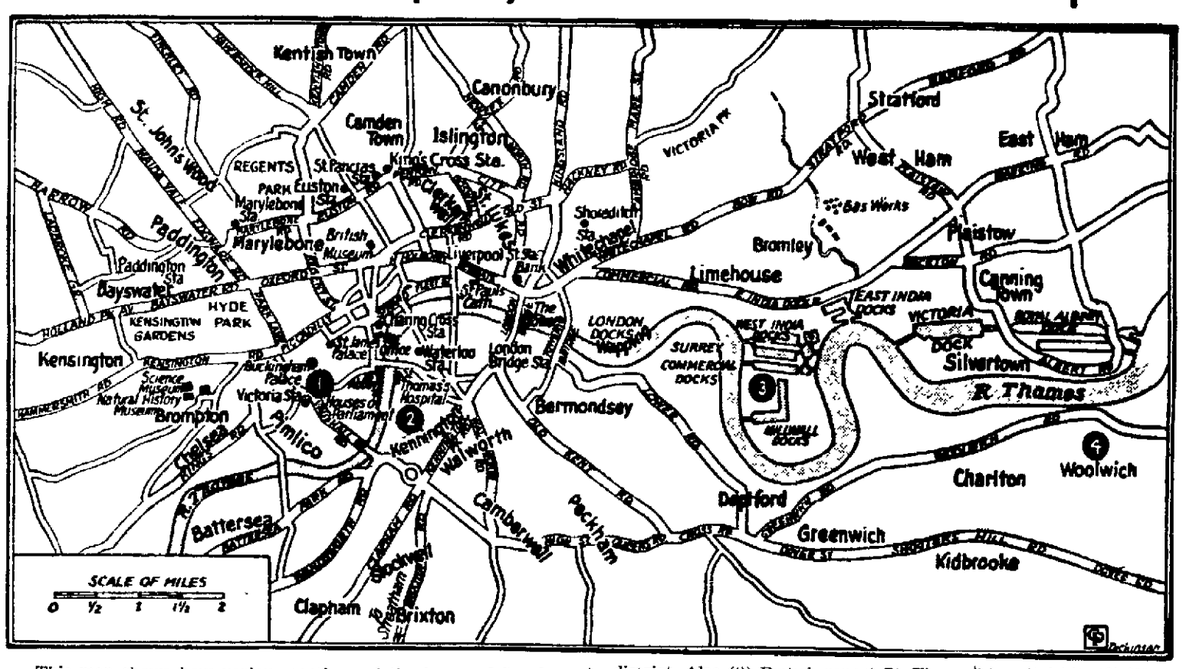
How Bombs Spray Heart of British Capital



This map shows how various sections of the heart of London have been damaged by German air bombs. (1) Buckingham palace, attacked several times, also nearby Victoria station. (2) Bombs and German planes have fallen in the Kennington district. Also (2) British report St. Thomas' hospital hit. (3) West India docks, according to a German report, have been smashed. (4) Woolwich arsenal district, reported hit and set afire. Since Aug. 8 Britain claims the loss of 621 planes as compared to Germany's 1,867.

8 MADISON HI PLAYERS TURN IN GRID SUITS

MOST ON REGULAR TEAM

Fendrick Says Gridders Stole Pepper Shakers, Silver Despite Warning.

Madison high school's football team faces the rest of its tough 1940 schedule without the services of eight regulars, all of whom have turned in their uniforms, it was learned today.

The eight were dropped from the squad, Coach Al Fendrick said today, as the result of an incident following last Saturday night's game with Wooster high at Wooster.

Fendrick declined to reveal the names of the men who have turned in their suits—at his demand—but said five were linemen and two were backs.

According to Fendrick, he had warned the squad before leaving for Wooster that no "snitching" of towels from locker rooms, or silver or other articles from restaurants would be permitted. He pointed to the example of the crack Massillon high team, whose exemplary behavior on the road had brought letters of commendation from hotels where they had stayed.

However, Fendrick said, after the squad had dined in Wooster following the game, it was discovered on the homeward-bound bus that salt and pepper shakers and silverware had been taken from the restaurant where the squad dined.

Someone, according to Fendrick, scattered pepper in the bus, some of it getting in the eyes of the driver.

On arriving at Madison, Fendrich, admittedly angry, gave the squad a verbal dressing down, and, declaring he would not associate or have on his squad players who indulged in such behavior, demanded

Fireworks Add To Terroristic Effect of Raid

British Report New Effective Weapon To Destroy German Planes, Refuse Details; Giant Bomb Kills 8 Air Raid Wardens.

(By United Press)

LONDON—German bombing planes on isolated lightning raids to evade improved British defenses slashed methodically at London and other objectives tonight after a night of destruction in which the Nazis used mysterious new "comet" bombs in attacks on the capital.

Both British defenders and German raiders were using new mystery weapons of aerial warfare, but for the second day the Nazi pilots were finding it difficult to break through London's defenses and resorted to hit-and-run attacks by one or two planes in daylight hours.

A Nazi bombing plane was reported to have crashed in the workers' district of Bermondsey, on the south side of the Thames, but investigation disclosed that was a particularly heavy bomb dropped by a German plane.

The bomb killed eight air raids precautions wardens, demolished a police station, a labor institute, an air raid wardens' post and other buildings.

Another lone raider dived to within a stone's throw of the ground in east London, dropped three or four bombs that demolished several houses and killed at least one person.

Another single raider bombed a southeast coast town, after which counter attacking British fighter planes brought the Nazi craft down at sea.

Still another German raider demolished houses, damaged roads and set fire to a gas main by a lightning bombing of a shopping center in a Thames estuary town.

Last's night attacks, which rained bombs around Fleet street in the heart of the capital, emphasized the use of strange weapons by both sides. The Germans dropped new terror bombs, which seemed to explode like a fireworks "sun burst" and shower downward with comet-like white flashes.

The bomb was believed to be a bigger incendiary, designed chiefly for terroristic purposes.

The British also were using a new and valuable device to destroy German planes, but no details were disclosed other than that it was a simple and effective weapon.

One of the most important buildings damaged in the nighttime raids was the county hall, from which the most valuable documents and records had been removed to the country at the start of the war.

A crater about 30 feet deep and 30 feet across was dug by the bomb that fell on the members' terrace of the county hall, on the side nearest Westminster bridge. All windows on the terrace were shattered and the interior was damaged. Two waitresses were killed and there were a dozen other casualties among 200 persons working in the building. Many were blown off their feet as glass and debris crashed about them.

The tragedy came during a strange lull in the German bombing this morning after an all night terror raid in which the Nazis wrought new destruction in the London area and used a new type of flaming bomb.

It was said officially that it was feared 90 persons had been killed and 350 seriously wounded in the night's raiding. No attempt was made to reach a total of those less seriously wounded.

Council's Team 'Sick', Calls Subs

City council's "peerless" baseball team sent out a hurry up call for re-enforcements this morning.

The big day for council's three-inning baseball fracas with the police department arrived with perfect weather, but Manager George Berg was bemoaning the fact that four of his "star" players were on the shelf.

While four utility players—Mayor William J. Locke, Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton, City Solicitor Marion D. Ward and Clerk William J. Beer, jr.—were drafted to fill in, the police hurled charges of "alleged injuries and faint heartedness."

Councilman Arthur L. Croak will be in the dugout and may do a little coaching, but there will be no playing as far as he is concerned. A horse stepped on his foot and he's using a cane to get around, he reported this morning.

Russell D. Porch, scheduled to hurl for the challengers, has to work and the same applies to Harry Emmons. Fred Miller was "called out of town."

However, the legislators were cheered by the news that Locke, a ball player of some repute in past years, will take over the pitching assignment. Jake Kutchall will catch.

Harry Schlegel, engineer, who is scheduled to do the umpiring, served notice that there will be no heckling this afternoon. He warned that decisions disputed by any player will be regarded as sufficient cause for dismissing him from the game.

Winner of the three-inning event, scheduled for 3 p. m. will meet city firemen, the winner of that game taking on an "all-star" team of picked employes.

Following the sports program, 120 city workers will have a picnic supper. Door prizes will be awarded, Ralph A. Hughes, general chairman, said.

Willkie Says Ohio Will Lead Way to Victory In November

DECLARES FDR LACKING FAITH

Candidate Asserts President Attempts to Solve All Problems Himself.

(By International News Service)

ABOARD WILLKIE TRAIN EN ROUTE LOS ANGELES — California, Democratic in 1932 and 1936, was urged today by Wendell Willkie to reject the New Deal and President Roosevelt in 1940 and elect an administration which has faith in the people, faith in industry, and faith in its ability to build an adequate national defense.

Entering California by the south, the Republican presidential candidate drew large audiences at his train stops and at San Diego where he delivered his longest speech of the day.

It was at San Diego that he charged: "In the seven and a half years that the New Deal has been in power, it has attempted to solve many problems. The standard formula has been the appropriation of more money, or the concentration of more power in the hands of the president, or both.

"Consequently we now have a public debt approaching fifty bil-

FARLEY PLANS FAREWELL BOW

Says Goodbye To Postmasters At Columbus Meeting.

COLUMBUS —(UP)— James F. Farley, former postmaster general, will be guest of honor Sept. 28 at a "farewell" banquet to be given by the National Association of Postmasters during their annual convention at Columbus.

Farley will come to Columbus in the role of private citizen to appear at the convention with his successor, Frank C. Walker, it was disclosed today by Algy Murphy, association secretary.

DENIES CHARGE

Galion Man Pleads Not Guilty In Officer's Death.

BUCYRUS—John E. Smith, 26, Galion, accused of slaying Patrolman Clarence H. Upson, 71, of Galion in a scuffle Aug. 3, pleaded innocent to a first degree murder charge when arraigned today before Common Pleas Judge C. U. Ahl. His trial was set for Oct. 2.

Smith, a factory worker, allegedly struck Patrolman Upson a fatal blow with his fist when the officer attempted to prevent him from driving his car after he had been drinking.

Four men who pleaded guilty to indictments returned by the grand jury were sentenced today by Judge Ahl. They are:

Leo McClintock, Bucyrus, non-support, indeterminate sentence in Ohio penitentiary; George Crampton, Bucyrus, sodomy, three to 20 years in the penitentiary; Charles Cahlix and Andrew Johnson, both of Cleveland, auto theft, indeterminate sentences in the Mansfield reformatory.

FINDLAY —(NS)— David O. Engle, 76, died in a Findlay hospital today of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile while crossing a street.

DELEGATES GET CHEERING WORD

State Republican Convention Adopts Platform; Pension of $40 Stressed.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—Delegates to the Republican state convention went back home today to renew the campaign fight after receiving direct assurance from Wendell L. Willkie, the G. O. P. presidential nominee, that he looked "to Ohio to lead the way" to a national victory in November.

Governor Bricker interrupted his own address in which he pledged no new taxes and a possible tax reduction to read to the cheering "faithful," Willkie's telegram dispatched from Marchfield, Calif., while on his campaign tour through the west.

"Best regards to you on this fine Republican day in Columbus," said the telegram addressed to the governor. "Tell the convention that the enthusiasm of the past few days augurs well for a general sweep in November. I look to Ohio to lead the way."

He also sent a message expressing hope for the governor's re-election and the election to Million Dollar Fire Sweeps North Carolina Town.

WILMINGTON, N. C. —(NS)— Damage estimated at approximately $1,000,000 was caused today when flames swept through Carolina Beach, small resort on the North Carolina coast 15 miles south of Wilmington.

The fire ravaged the two principal hotels at the beach, the pavilion, the entire amusement area and the business section.

BACKS WILLKIE

New York Times Tells Why It Shifts Support.

NEW YORK—(NS)—The New York Times, which in 1932 and 1936 supported President Roosevelt, today published an editorial condemning the president's third term aspirations and announcing its support for Wendell L. Willkie, the Republican presidential nominee.

Its primary reasons for supporting Willkie, the Times said, were:

"Because we believe that he is better equipped than Mr. Roosevelt to provide this country with an adequate national defense; because we believe he is a practical liberal who understands the need of increased production; because we believe that the fiscal policies of Mr. Roosevelt have failed disastrously; because we believe that at a time when the traditional safeguards of democracy are falling everywhere it is particularly important to honor and preserve the American tradition against vesting the enormous powers of the presidency in any one man for three consecutive terms of office."

GIVEN MEDAL

Wright Field Flier Gets Hero's Award.

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The war department announced that Capt. George F. McGuire of the army air corps will receive the Soldier's medal today for heroism in rescuing two other officers from a burning plane at Wright Field, Dayton, O., April 11, 1939.

McGuire, native of Coffeyville, Kan., was piloting an experimental plane with two other officers as passengers when it crashed and burned. Although injured, McGuire aided his passengers in escaping

SOLDIERS KILLED

GENEVA—(NS)—Two Swiss soldiers were killed and 16 others gravely injured when an avalanche smashed down on their encampment during training maneuvers at high altitude in the canton of Valais, it was disclosed today.

SURPRISE: Italians Claim Sudden Attack Routs British

BULLETIN

ROME—(AP)—Italy has thrown 14 Libyan divisions (about 170,000 men) in addition to Italian troops into the drive into Egypt and pushed back the British in a disorderly retreat, Marshal Rodolfo Graziani reported to Premier Mussolini today.

The Italian commander's report was made as a high command communique disclosed that the British fleet and air force had bombed and shelled Italian positions along 350 miles of the Egyptian and Libyan coast, as well as in East Africa and the Dodecanese islands, in the eastern Mediterranean.

Graziani was reported to have told Mussoline he used 2,000 motor trucks in the eastward drive which surprised the British.

(Previously it was reported at least two columns were engaged in the invasion, one of Libyans, and another of Italian troops.)

British military experts had estimated only 150,000 troops and but few trucks could be used over the terrain available to the advance, Graziani said.

The British fled in disorder, abandoning equipment along the desert roads, losing more than half their tanks and armored cars, and suffering from shortage of gasoline and water under the

FUNDS ALL GONE

Payday Arrives Payless For 10 City Employes.

Ten street department employes had their first payless pay day yesterday and unless council appropriates funds at its Oct. 1 meeting there is little likelihood of any checks for the workers the balance of this year.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton said this morning that council's finance committee had been asked to appropriate approximately $4,000 needed for payrolls in the department for the rest of this year.

He said that even with the funds available it appears almost certain that a reduction in workers would have to be made to keep the payroll within the supplemental appropriation limits.

There are 39 employes in the department. Nineteen are on a two-week payless vacation and are scheduled to go back to work Monday when the other 20 will begin their two-week vacation.

BANKER DIES

P. J. Faulkner Was Retired Federal Official.

CINCINNATI —(UP)— Peter J. Faulkner, 71, retired Federal Reserve bank attache and brother of the late James W. Faulkner, for years Columbus correspondent for the Cincinnati Enquirer, died today in a hospital after illness of a month.

Faulkner retired as head of the discount department of the Federal Reserve bank in 1935 after 18 years' service.

Utilities Commission Inspects 'Doodlebug' Crash Scene.

COLUMBUS —(UP)— The three members of the Ohio public utilities commission went to Cuyahoga Falls, near Akron, today for a personal inspection of the scene of the Pennsylvania "Doodlebug" train wreck that took 43 lives last July 31.

A report by Harry M. Evans, chief railroad inspector for the commission, has blamed the wreck upon failure of the "Doodlebug" crew to follow orders.

Duke of Kent Threatened By Delayed Bomb

LONDON — (UP) — A German time-bomb exploded today within 80 yards of an automobile in which the Duke of Kent was touring bombed areas of southwest London.

The duke's car had just stopped at a barrier where the notice had been put up:

"Danger, unexploded bomb."

A moment later the bomb exploded, sending a shower of rubble into the air which spattered the duke's car and the immediate vicinity.

The duke stepped out of the automobile when the shower subsided. Nearby persons rushed up, and several women shook the duke's hand.

High Price Paid for Social Gains, Editor Tells Bankers

By ROBERT E. ROGERS

Condemning the "reckless spending" of the New Deal, Phil S. Hanna, editor of the Chicago Journal of Commerce, last night told more than 400 bankers here that "social gains, by defiance of wisdom and principle, have been purchased at a terrifically high price."

He told the bankers from nine north central Ohio counties gathered at the Westbrook Country club for the 34th annual meeting of Group Six of the Ohio Bankers' association that when the nation reaches its borrowing limitations "it will be the concern of all of us."

"When the treasury cannot borrow, it will not be the concern of those who now tell us we should not change horses. It will be the concern of every bank depositor and every insurance policy holder because banks and insurance companies are loaded with government bonds," he asserted.

"Every racket sows the seeds of its own destruction as it goes along," he warned "After the next payday we will see that come about."

Hanna, who calls himself a Jeffersonian Democrat, branded the third term idea a "challenge to the principles" of the constitution laid down by the founder of this country.

"Of course, you do not expect a politician to let any election go by default because of a defense

CHANGES: Ribbentrop Visit Indicates New Balkan Moves

ROME—(UP)—Axis plans for "important political and territorial" changes in the Balkans brought Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop to Rome for consultation with Premier Benito Mussolini, the authoritative Virginio Gayda indicated today in Giornale D'Italia.

Ribbentrop, who arrived on an armored train, was generally expected to discuss war problems involving Spain's position toward the Axis powers and the campaign against the British empire in North Africa. But Gayda put especial emphasis on the Axis program for a new order in Europe, as it affects the Balkans.

(A press campaign against Greece recently aroused speculation as to possibility of a Fascist move toward the Aegean sea.)

"Since the strong attacks against the British Isles and the British empire are continuing as scheduled, the Axis powers already are in a position to think about the construction of a new Europe, freed from the weight of defeated hegemonies," Gayda said.

The Ribbentrop visit occurs at a moment when important southeastern European problems have been settled but naturally not all problems can be considered solved as a result of the Vienna conference (resulting in partitioning of Rumania.) The results, however, prove the possibility of obtaining specific solution for important political and territorial problems."

SLOW, STEADY BIDDING AIDS STOCK MARKET

Issues Add Fractions to New Advances; Rail Bonds In Fair Demand.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Bidding was slow but persistent in today's stock market and leading issues managed to add fractions to their recent advance.

Securities at London retained their even tenure. Rail bonds were in fair demand and commodities steady.

Stocks accorded support included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Pennsylvania, Chrysler, General Electric and Union Carbide.

Although the feeling of many in the financial sector was that, despite the constant air blasting of England, the British have a better than even chance of withstanding the Nazis through the winter, most speculative contingents were disposed to keep accounts in shape for readjustment if a surprise should be sprung the European embroglio.

COMPLETE WORK AT SEWER PLANT

SHELBY—Renovation of filter beds at municipal sewer plant today had been completed by city employes. Street Commissioner Guy McClane in charge of the project, announced today.

Eight employes working on the renovation program have put 1,485 tons of sand on the filter beds at the plant. Two trucks and a high lift machine have been used on the project, McClane pointed out.

RED CROSS MEETS

SHELBY—Red Cross sewers today were meeting at First Church of Christ to sew garments. The workers had been assigned to the American Legion home, but because of the increased number of sewers moved to the church.

LEVY NOT TO BE RENEWED

SHELBY—City officials do not plan to renew the one-mill levy for operation of municipal government this fall when it expires, it was learned today.

Bringing in revenue of some $7,000 annually, the levy is used to supplement the regular taxes for that purpose. It has been in operation here for the past four years.

Join the value-wise women who formerly paid high prices for other nationally-known brands of Salad Dressing of comparable quality...but who now enjoy the quality and flavor of Ann Page and save money, too!

Ann Page Salad Dressing is so delicious because it contains more of the fine ingredients that give quality to a dressing, because it is neither too sweet nor too sour, expertly blended to creamy-smooth goodness. Tested and approved by Good Housekeeping Bureau. No wonder it outsells all other salad dressings and mayonnaise combined in A&P Stores.

BIRCH BORERS

Take Heavy Toll of Ohio Trees This Year.

WOOSTER — (AP) — Invading bronze birch borers are taking a heavy toll of Ohio's picturesque birch trees for the first time this year.

Dr. J. S. Houser, Ohio experiment station entomologist, said the inch and one-half long pest was a newcomer to Ohio, although known in Canada and Michigan for about 25 years.

The borers prefer white birch but also attack American black birch, yellow and canoe varieties, he said. They deposit eggs in the tree tops and the larvae bore into the bark.

Houser said no methd of control had been devised as yet, the scourge spreads so rapidly that removal of dead branches fails to save trees, although he said hardy birches are less subject to attack.

CONVINCING

DENVER —(AP)— The surgeon told Oliver Woodard, sr., that the time to have your tonsils out was in early fall, after you had stored some summer health in your body. He must have been convincing, because five members of the Woodard family went to the hospital together.

LASSOS BRING IN EDUCATION

Brothers Rope Calves and College Funds During Summer Rodeos.

CHEYENNE, Wyo.—(U.P.)—After a summer of bull-dozin' and bronc bustin' Dean and Hyde Merritt are back at the University of Wyoming this year.

They plan to keep on ropin' cattle during the summers and lassom' textbooks in the winter until they end with a couple of college degrees in 1943—as well as fat purses from their summer activities.

Dean, 19, and Hyde, 18, are the sons of King Merritt, rancher, who has competed in rodeo events since 1933.

Both boys are taking agriculture courses, and they expect a good part of their college expenses will be paid from earnings at calf roping in western rodeos.

Dean struck the jackpot at the Greeley, Colo., Spud Rodeo when he caught and tied a calf in 16 seconds flat to capture the $200 purse. His chagrined father came in second best in 19 seconds.

At the Cheyenne Frontier Days ill-luck struck the Merritt family and father and sons lost to more experienced cow-pokes.

"But we did as well as dad," commented the college-bred cowboys.

In their spare time they "ride the herd" over 150 horses and 300 cattle.

On each box of Rinso there is full description of a marvelous silverware offer. Every piece is original Rogers silverplate. Comes in the new "Romance" pattern. Read how to build a complete set!

This Good-Will Offer made to introduce you to amazing New "Anti-Sneeze" Rinso

NOW you can get one large box of the New "Anti-Sneeze" Rinso for only 15c—when you buy a large box at the usual price. We want you to discover for yourself what New "Anti-Sneeze" Rinso means to you! For Rinso is now 98% free of the "soap-dust" that causes sneezing . . . and we want you to see how comfortable and pleasant washday can be. Notice, too, that with the New "Anti-Sneeze" Rinso you're not annoyed by scum-forming soap lumps in the wash-water.

You'll discover what millions already know about Rinso: That it goes so much farther than the old—it's like getting free soap every 5th washday . . . That the New Rinso washes clothes up to 10 shades whiter than lazy, old-type soaps. That Rinso is safe for washable colors . . . marvelous for dishes . . . easy on hands.

Get Rinso now! Not only will you save money . . . but each box of Rinso you buy will help you to build a stunning initialed silverware set.

CLUB ELECTS

Mrs. Ida Guisinger Named Ersine President.

CRESTLINE—Miss Cleo Crider of Galion, Mrs. O. H. Hilborn of Tiro and Mrs. C. E. Dewald were guests present for the Ersine club meeting held at the McGaughy Tea room in Galion with Mrs. M. N. Reed, Mrs. J. B. McCarter, Mrs. R. B. Smith and Mrs. H. E. Haworth the hostesses.

Following the serving of dinner a business session was held and Mrs. Ida Guisinger was elected to serve as president for the year and Mrs. E. G. Anderson secretary and treasurer.

Mrs. J. Rinehart and Mrs. E. G. Anderson received prizes in contests and each guest was presented a gift. Hostesses for the club's October meeting will be Mrs. Rinehart and Mrs. A. T. Bauer.

DINNER BELL

Ethel, the Camel, Stages Hunger Strike.

COLORADO SPRINGS—(AP)—Ethel, 42-year-old camel at the Broadmoor zoo, went on a hunger strike after Fritz, a male camel, crushed with his teeth a Tibetan bell she had worn for 20 years.

Virgil Crisp, bell maker, tried to duplicate the instrument but Ethel wouldn't eat. The second one he made also was unsatisfactory. But the tone of the third satisfied the camel. Ethel's eating again.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS FOR PARKING METERS

The City of Mansfield, Ohio, will receive sealed bids for the 9 months rental, with option to purchase 500, more or less, parking meters until 12 o'clock noon on 7th day of October, 1940. No specifications will be published other than the following instructions to bidders:

The parking meters shall be of the automatic or manual type, but the Board of Control reserves the right to decide after receipt of competitive bids which type is best suited to the requirements of the City of Mansfield. Meters are to operate on a 5c coin for a period of 60 minutes and are therefore single coin meters. Alternate bids will be received on 2-hour meters, the meters to operate for 2 hours on a 5c coin. Alternate bids will be received also on penny and nickel combination meters. Each bidder shall state which type he is bidding upon.

Each bidder shall submit detailed specifications of his meter, its method of operation and method of installation, and shall also submit a sample parking meter of the identical type that he proposes to furnish under his bid.

Each bidder shall be required to deposit with the City of Mansfield, with his bid, a certified check in the amount of $500.00 on a solvent bank in the state of Ohio to guarantee his entering into a contract if given the award. Checks to the unsuccessful bidders will be returned after the successful bidder has executed his contract and satisfied the City of Mansfield he is proceeding with the installation of parking meters.

No bids will be considered on obsolete or discontinued models.

The bids shall be quoted on a rental basis for a period of 9 months, stated in dollars and cents per meter per month. The biddders shall then state the option price he will ask the City of Mansfield to pay at the expiration of the 9 months rental period in the event the City desires to purchase the meters.

The bidder shall also state for what period of time, if any, they will service the meters during the rental period and shall state the guarantee period which time they are willing to furnish parts without charge to the City of Mansfield.

Each bidder shall also state what he will furnish in the form of accessories, if any are intended in his bid, such as, extra coin boxes, coin box carrying cases, and meter parts, etc.

Each bidder shall state the time he requires for making installation after proper notification of the awarding of the contract by the City of Mansfield.

In renting these meters the City of Mansfield agrees to enforce the parking meter ordinance to collect the receipts from the parking meters to paint the lines on the streets showing where the cars may park, and to assume responsibility of damage to the meters during the rental period.

Each bidder will be required to furnish with his bid a parts list setting forth a price that his company will charge the City of Mansfield for parts if any are required.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish a performance bond for the full amount of the contract.

The bidders shall also furnish a list of their installations.

The City of Mansfield reserves the right to order installed at various times any part or all of the meters bid upon during the one year period from date of contract.

The Board of Control reserves the right to reject any and all bids also the right to waive all technicalities and do anything that Board of Control believes to be for best interests of City.

C. M. CRAFTON
Director of Public Service & Safety.

FIVE INJURED, TRUCK BURNS IN TWO ACCIDENTS

Four Hurt When Automobile and Truck Collide In Ashland County.

Five persons were injured today in two traffic accidents, four of them in a truck-automobile crash north of Ashland, and the other when a truck crashed into a ditch and caught fire near Galion.

Most seriously injured when the truck and passenger car collided 14 miles north of Ashland in Sullivan was Peter Hanson, 61, of Lodi, Cal., taken to Ashland Samaritan hospital with chest injures and severe cuts and bruises.

Also in Samaritan hospital as a result of the accident are Febert Hammett, 40, or 152 Park avenue east, Mansfield, treated for cuts and lacerations about the body; C. R. Minesinger, 41, of Ashland, cuts and bruises; and Walter Locwen, 55, California, who was being x-rayed for internal injuries this morning.

Details of how the accident occurred were not available at noon today.

Aaron Stayer, 38, of Youngstown, escaped with minor injuries when the express truck he was driving blew a rear tire and crashed into a ditch on Route 30-S west of Galion early this morning.

Highway patrolmen said that the truck caught fire and was destroyed. Stayer escaped from the burning wreckage before the fire reached the cab of the truck. He was cut and bruised.

In traffic arrests reported today V. L. Swinney, 75 West Dickman avenue, arrested last night by Mansfield police on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol, pleaded guilty and was fined $50 and costs in Municipal court this morning.

Swinney's license to drive was suspended for one year.

Two motorists were arrested on Route 42 last night by state highway patrolmen for careless and unsafe driving.

Frank Miller, 211 East Fourth street, was arrested by highway patrolmen near Mansfield and will appear in municipal court Saturday morning.

David Root, 23, of Hayesville, arrested near Galion, on the same charge, is slated to appear in Justice of the Peace R. R. Teeter's court in Ashland this afternoon.

But Miller Expects School Enrollment to Top 1939.

Although enrollment in Mansfield schools is still more than 100 under last year, Supt. W. L. Miller expects it to forge ahead of the 1939 figures before the end of September Pupils returning from late summer vacations and others who worked until after the new term began are enrolling almost daily, and enrollment is expected to reach a peak within the next 10 days.

Latest figures show that 6,162 pupils are attending city schools as compared to 6,297 last year. There are 1,566 junior high pupils in the two new buildings and 1,306 at Senior high school.

POLICE OFFICERS MAP PLANS TO BUILD NEW PISTOL COURSE

Plans were under way today for the construction of a permanent police pistol course, the first of its kind to be erected in Ohio.

The Ohio Brotherhood of Police Officers at a recent meeting of the board of directors appropriated $200 to finance the project. Work is expected to be started this fall.

Detective Lee J. Remy, president of the state organization, said the idea was conceived to furnish a course where law enforcement officers could practice and enter match competition under standard FBI regulations.

He said plans under consideration call for location of the course on the Jacob Wolfe farm, just north of U. S. route 30S at Shaffer's corners.

A tract 50 by 200 feet will provide two target courses complete with barricades. They will be built according to FBI specifications, Remy explained.

Remy said the directors voted to postpone the organization's annual state-wide pistol shoot until 1941 when it could be held on the new courses. Plans for conducting the affair this year were discarded because the Mansfield armory range was not available.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—If you haven't met Singapore Joe, it's time.

Singapore Joe Fisher is a showman extraordinary, a world traveler, a cultured and genial raconteur, an ex-officio salesman of the charms of Singapore and all Malaya.

He popped into town the other day, on one of his periodic visits, looking natty and neat in one of those white tropical suits which somehow (unlike most in these parts) kept its neatness and its whiteness.

It was the fabulous Sultan of Johore, Malayan ruler, who dubbed him "Singapore Joe." His Highness, once a visitor in Hollywood, did the dubbing characteristically. To a friend who for years had been known simply as Mr. Joe Fisner, His Highness presented (wrapped in old newspaper) a package which he said contained a supply of biscuits. Mr. Joe Fisher suspected a gag, tossed the package into his car, opened it somewhat later as an afterthought, and found a heavy gold cigaret case, mounted with platinum and precious stones, and inscribed to "Singapore Joe." Everyone in Hollywood knows Singapore Joe.

Singapore Joe runs the showplace of the Straits Settlements, the Capitol theater. It's a magnificent building with shops and bars, besides movie facilities, and to hear Joe tell about it is to resolve to see a movie there some day. It has 1,600 seats, with two arm rests for each seat, and plenty of leg room.

It has a mezzanine cool as the warm nights, besides air conditioning; it has attendants who serve drinks, and convenient bars for the intermissions. Attendants take your car to the parking lot (free) and clean it for you (cost). From any seat you get a clear, undistorted, unobstructed view of the screen.

Principal object of Joe's visit to the U. S. has been to increase the European population, usually about 12,000 but now, thanks to soldiers, much greater.

In this cosmopolitan center, the paying customers (excepting the Germans now in internment camps) present a cross section of world taste in films—and Tarzan, Johnny Weissmullers, no substitutes accepted, is Hero No. 1. The last Tarzan epic took in $30,000 in seven days, while "Gone With the Wind" hit only $40,000 in 21 days. Deanna Durbin's popularity grows from picture to picture, and Jeanette MacDonald is a high favorite.

"And now they can see such a good picture!" beams Singapore Joe. "And how the word spreads!"

Just how this word-of-mouth carries weight he illustrates by the story of a hotel employe who had trouble at his job—and six hours later, over a territory of 700 miles, "sympathy strikes" were brewing. All this, minus telephone or telegraph communication, for these were checked and no messages recorded!

(Note to Exhibitors: Singapore Joe's Capitol operates sans double features, sans giveaways, sans lotteries—and cleans up. And it's not the only house around.)

Every Turkish citizen is now obliged by law to adopt a family name.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Parents of Daughter—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brum, R. D. 2 Shiloh, are the parents of a son born last night.

Suit Stolen—John Gerger, 249 Remy avenue, driver for Fusco Cleaners, told police yesterday that a suit was stolen from his delivery truck.

Meeting Scheduled—Community club of Beer school, Wooster road, will hold a meeting at the school Friday at 8 p. m. A program and refreshments have been arranged by the committee in charge.

Annual Celebration — The annual corn roast for Company M members will be held at 7:30 p. m. at the T. B. Finney farm on West Cook road. Refreshments will be provided by the committee.

Cited On Parking Charge — Cited into municipal court today after he had ignored two traffic citations, Don Myers, 212 Bowland road, was convicted of parking in a safety zone and was fined $2.50 and costs.

Plans Campaign—Members of the Y. W. C. A. membership committee met with their co-chairmen, Mrs. W. B. Wygant and Mrs. R. D. Iden, this afternoon to make plans for the membership campaign.

Olivesburg Festival — The annual fall festival will be held at the Olivesburg Methodist church Friday at 6:30 p. m. There will be a display of farm produce, quilts, antiques and flowers. Refreshments will be served by the committee.

Cyclist Injured — Robert Michael, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Michael, 391 Springmill street, suffered bruises yesterday, police said, when he was struck by an automobile driven by Peter Stolle, 22 Glenn avenue. The accident happened while the youth was riding his bicycle on Springmill street near North Mulberry street.

Youth Jailed — A 17-year-old youth, released Monday by juvenile authorities after he and a companion had allegedly attempted to burglarize an Ashland road market, was back in jail today in connection with the ransacking of several automobiles last night. He was captured by an attendant at Diemer's filling station, Park avenue west, and turned over to police.

VOTERS LIKELY TO GET SINGLE SPECIAL ISSUE

Election Board Reveals Only One-Mill Levy Notice Filed to Date.

Mansfield voters probably will receive only one special issue ballot when they go to the polls Nov. 5.

Friday is the deadline for filing notices of special issue elections with the county election board, and so far city officials have indicated that a one-mill levy for parks, playground supervision, police and fire departments and the airport will be on the only levy or bond issue which will be submitted.

In contrast to last year when a number of bond issues were submitted in the county outside Mansfield, indications are that there will be none to vote on this fall.

A number of townships and school districts, however, will vote on new and renewal operating levies at the general election.

A final check was being made today of local option petitions for South Boulevards to see if they contain enough signatures to put the liquor sale question on the November ballot.

The petitions seek a vote for or against the sale of all intoxicating liquors in the new village south of Mansfield. If the voters should turn down the sale, no intoxicants could be sold in the village.

PAY TO WORK

Students Give $100 to Labor 40 Hours a Week.

NORTH WEARE, N. H.—(INS)—Twenty college students put in a summer of pick and shoveling work—and paid $100 for the "privilege" of working 40 hours a week.

The students were members of a work camp of the American Friends Service Committee, a Philadelphia Quaker organization.

Laboring in shifts—girls as well as boys—with shovel and wheelbarrow, they undertook the construction of a recreational center and bath house in flood-devastated North Weare.

Students hailing from California, England, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Oregon, Australia, Austria, Kansas, New York and Pennsylvania were in the group.

SITE MARKED

MOBILE, Ala.—(U.P.)—A monument has been erected on the site of Shiloh, the first Baptist church in the Mobile area, founded in 1810.

Saved St. Paul's

A member of the Royal Canadian Engineers, Lieut. R. Davies, 45, directed the "suicide squad" which worked four days and nights to extricate a one-ton German time-bomb buried in a street near St. Paul's Cathedral and threatening to demolish the famous structure. The bomb later was exploded harmlessly in a swamp.

ANGLER'S LUCK

Fishermen Catch Small Buck Deer Instead of Herring.

AUGUSTA, Me.—(INS)—Two would-be fishermen went fishing in the fish-laden waters of Eastport and caught, of all things, a small buck deer.

William Conley and Remington Whelpey packed their fishing tackle and bait one day and headed down to Eastport where schools of herring, the chamber of commerce publicized, run thick.

While searching for the "schools," the duo sighted the animal swimming around in circles several miles off shore. In true navy fashion a rescue was affected and the deer was taken ashore and and released in the nearby woods.

DISCOVERY

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Cleveland has "discovered" another city park. A real estate man pointed it out on a map. Property Clerk William Wheaton found that the city council had approved the dedication of the two acres in 1926. It apparently had been unheard of since then.

NARCISSUS CROP

SALEM, Ore.—(U.P.)—Oregon's narcissus crop will total at least 25,000,000 bulbs this year, the state department of agriculture has announced. Bulbs must be inspected twice before they are placed on the market.

FIREWORKS ADD TO TERROR OF GERMAN RAIDS

Reports of a new British defense device against raiding planes and a jubilant air ministry statement on the results of hundreds of attacking German planes yesterday.

The all night raid ended at 5.30 a. m today after 9½ hours during which German planes dropped bombs of all sorts, apparently at random, on the London area

There followed a period of calm which endured almost all morning. There was one brief alarm period during the morning rush hour. But apparently it was caused by the appearance of a single reconnaissance plane to the London area and the "all clear" bollowed at once.

Some of the most famous of London's buildings were damaged during the night

The hall and library of the inner temple, one of the secluded precincts off Fleet street and the Strand sacred to London, walled off and constituting almost a world of centuries past, were damaged It was in the middle temple hall nearby that Shakespeare was believed to have acted in his Twelfth Night in 1602 before Queen Elizabeth. In the middle temple hall is the table on which the virgin queen signed the death warrant of Mary Queen of Scots

Bombs fell in the court yard of the British museum and the Wallace collection, one of the famous art galleries of the world, and on the Peter Robinson department store in Oxford street.

The public records office in Chancery Lane was damaged as was the ancient Church of St Dunstan in the west first mentioned in records of the year 1237 The church contains the only known contemporary statue of Queen Elizabeth. Izaak Walton was a vestryman

The night raid was perhaps the most spectacular of the war

Watchers saw new Nazi terror bombs descending from miles in the sky, amid the bursts of anti-aircraft gun shells They looked, at a distance, like great flaming suns which burst suddenly above the sky line and disintegrated in a shower of white hot flashes

It was understood that Royal Air Force planes bombed invasion ports along the other side of the channel during the night, attacking shipping and barge concentrations at Boulogne, Calais, Dunkirk and Ostend and other targets. A big attack was made on Le Havre. It was understood, and on freight assembly yards in Germany and German occupied territory.

Germans Roused To New Anger

BERLIN —(AP)— A call for unlimited bomb warfare on England in retaliation for the reported bombing of a German hospital was sounded in the German press today.

It followed cautious hints that the aerial struggle might go on through the winter, but with new pressure of some sort on other "vulnerable" points of the British empire.

Der Angriff, propaganda Minister Goebbels' paper, demanded thousand-fold retaliation for the bombing at Bethel, Prussia, in which the high command said nine children were killed and 12 injured by RAF night raiders.

Another newspaper, Nachtausgabe, said that "hereafter not the slightest consideration need be taken" for British civilians.

Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung indicated that "the scoring of accounts will be terrible."

The afternoon press, furthering the angry comment in morning papers, was unanimous in sentiment for eye-for-an-eye action by the German air force.

There were hints of extension of the war in both time and space.

They supplemented the declaration by authorized spokesmen that "tangible deeds" would follow the Axis parley in Rome, now under way, and coincided with official reports on the bombardment of London and England which pictured no deviation from the established nature of the last 12 days of almost continuous raiding.

The high command, summarizing the last 24 hours' actions, reported bombardment of.

Docks and port facilities at Tilbury.

Oil tanks at London's Victoria docks.

Chemical works at Billingham-on-Tyne.

Docks at Newcastle and airports in central England.

The daily communique said that the "retaliatory" attacks on London "continued with increased intensity during the night" and that Nazi airmen in "rolling raids" struck at docks and other targets with heaviest caliber bombs

Meanwhile, said the high command, "the mining of southern English ports continues."

British plane losses yesterday were set at 38 as against 13 German planes missing. (The British said the score was 48 to 12 in Britain's favor.)

The high command also told of RAF attacks in northern France and Belgium "without causing noteworthy military damage" and a raid last night on western Germany in which, it was charged, the British bombed "non military targets and raided Bethel hospitals."

"Three hospital buildings were destroyed, although the Red Cross visibly identified them as such," said the communique. "Nine children were killed and 12 injured"

This bombardment, at Bethel, near Bielefeld, Prussia, drew the anger of the Nazi press.

"Treacherous murder is no longer war, Mr. Winston Churchill," said the headline in the Berliner Zeitung.

MURDER TRIAL MOVING ALONG

(By United Press)

FREMONT—Testimony was expected to be completed late today in the second degree murder trial of Alpha (Red) Woessner, 31, former Fremont steeplejack and army private, accused of administering fatal injuries to Walter Snyder, 23, sugar refinery worker.

The state buttressed its case against Woessner with testimony from Robert Metz, who stayed at the same rooming house with Woessner, that the defendant threatened to "get" Snyder a week before Snyder's mysterious disappearance last Halloween night.

Detective Carl Hartung, Toledo, and Police Chief Herman Schneider of Fremont stated on the witness stand that Woessner had admitted to them he engaged in a fight with Snyder whose body was found in the Sandusky river on Dec. 7.

A confession allegedly signed by Woessner was admitted into evidence along with newspaper clippings about Snyder's death which Schneider said were found in Woessner's belongings when he was arrested at Fort Sheridan, Ill., last spring.

Defense Attorney Glenn Bracy filed notice with the court of an alibi defense. Woessner claims he loafed around a filling station the evening of the alleged murder and then returned to his rooming house for the night

EXPECT 200 AT CORN ROAST

Chamber of Commerce Members To Meet at Grove Tonight.

Approximately 200 members of the Chamber of Commerce are expected to gather at Spiker's grove, southwest of Mansfield, for a corn roast tonight.

The program is to get under way at 4 p. m with horseshoes and bridge. Prizes will be awarded winners after which CCC youths from the Rocky Fork camp will put on a program of entertainment.

The committee in charge of arrangements is headed by O. C McCormick.

EIGHT GRIDDERS TURN IN SUITS

that those who had taken things from the restaurant turn in their suits.

Eight men, all regulars, complied, he said today.

Fendrick said none would be reinstated on the squad, even though the team faces a tough schedule this year, and even though the loss of the eight men may result in a poor record for the team

Other school officials declined to comment on the situation today. Fendrick, although dubious about the outcome of remaining games on the schedule—Madison plays New London, a fast Class B school tomorrow night—asserted flatly that he would not reinstate any of the eight players.

"I tried to find out which of the players had taken things from the restaurant," he said, "but I wasn't able to do so. Then I demanded that those who had done so turn in their suits. The fact that eight did so seems sufficient proof that they are the guilty ones.

"I don't want boys like that on the team They all had sufficient warning as to the kind of behavior that was expected of them."

G. O. P. LEADERS RETURN HOME

Back From Convention, They Plan For Shelby Rally.

Back home from the state G.O.P. convention in Columbus yesterday, Richland county Republican leaders and a delegation of party workers plan to go to Shelby tonight to attend a Willkie club rally in the high school auditorium.

Principal speaker at the rally, scheduled to begin at 8 p m, will be Henry Sheets, Shelby writer and lecturer, who wrote the now-famous editorial, "Think It Over"

Nearly 60 county Republicans were in Columbus yesterday and last night for the state G O P. convention. Ralph Hardy, county Republican executive committee chairman, remained in the capital city today to attend a meeting of county chairmen this morning.

CLAIMS SOCIAL GAINS COSTLY

emergency," he declared referring to the president without using his name

"But when burglars are in the neighborhood a wise man stops beating his wife and reforming his children He lets these things go until the threat is passed.

"Similarly, when there are burglars in the neighborhood, a man who is spending more than he takes in does not try to increase his overdraft at the bank in order to buy a gun. The wise man converts his peacetime expenditures into defense expenditures."

"And if he is accustomed to working eight hours a day and the need of defending his home calls for 10 hours a day he gladly spends the extra hours," he added

"That briefly is the picture of the United States today," he told the group.

The speaker asserted that the United States now has a $15 000 - 000,000 annual overhead out of a $70 000,000 000 income, adding that "now we propose to boost the overhead to $25 000 000 000 a year without doing any of the things which will make the $70 000,000,000 grow to $80,000,000,000

"Of course, while credit is good, we will seem to keep the income in safe proportion to the overhead. But who knows how long?"

He warned that a national defense program was a "new industry" in which the dollar does not reproduce itself. He said every dollar of debt created in the first instance is not paid off by fruits of the enterprise.

Hanna declared that war industry merely speeds up wastage of past savings and wealth and creates things which have but transitory value. He asserted that it leaves a mortgage on future real wealth production

The speaker saw little chance of Hitler conquering England and believes that rough weather this fall and winter will give the British ample time to prepare for anything that Germany may have to offer next spring.

He declared that there was little chance of Japan completely downing China pointing out that more Chinese come of age every year than the Japs can destroy

"While I believe that the dictator era is nearing an end, for the reason that any program of force and destruction sows the seeds of its own defeat as it expands, there is a prodigious amount of work to be done," he concluded.

Earlier, the bankers heard talks by L. D. St. John of Toledo president of the Ohio Bankers association, Rodney P Lich, Lima, state superintendent of banks, and David M. Auch, Columbus, secretary of the state organization.

St. John complimented Group Six for being "one of the most active in the state"

The meeting last night attracted 425 bankers from northcentral Ohio the greatest number ever to attend an annual meeting in Mansfield

Auch told the group that the prevailing rate of interest now being paid on time and savings deposits in the Group Six area was two per cent

He said a survey showed that 30 of the 65 banks in the area were paying that amount. Only eight paid rates higher than two per cent while the others paid rates ranging from one per cent to two per cent.

Prior to the dinner meeting the bankers played golf on the Westbrook course.

Paul M. Eliot, secretary-treasurer of the Farmers Saving and Trust company, vice chairman of the group the past year, was elected to the chairmanship to succeed John E. Wise, president of the Willard United Bank at Willard Paul A. Warner, vice president of the Knox County Savings bank at Mt Vernon, secretary-treasurer the past year, was named vice chairman. W. B. Kuhn, cshier of the Citizens bank, at Shelby was elected secretary-treasurer to succeed Warner.

School Children Get Ride on Erie Passenger Train

Information from first-hand experience will be gathered by 25 Western avenue school children from the second and third grades when they board the Midlander, crack Erie railroad passenger train, for a trip to Ashland this afternoon

According to W. A Freeman, principal, the pupils were studying transportation in the class room, so it was decided that the best way to learn about transportation was to experience it first hand.

Arrangements were completed for the trip early this week

Accompanied by their teachers, the pupils will inspect equipment and operation of the train and will be conducted through the Pullmans, dining cars and coaches en route to Ashland.

The "inside workings" of the train will be emphasized during the trip, Freeman said.

Japanese are also bombing Chinese cities—but that's further away.

You can't judge a man by the affability he shows when he's a candidate for office.

Findings in the Gallup poll will be much more convincing when somebody finds somebody who knows about somebody who has been polled.

Modern War of Destruction

A CHANGE noted in war methods, as being practiced by Hitlerized Germany, is the emphasis placed on destruction of property, with human slaughter regarded as a minor incident rather than a main objective.

While there has been no special avoidance of killing people, the onslaught is primarily against property, especially in the form of ships, airplanes and buildings.

With the burning and demolition of property naturally goes the destruction of services which depend on property, and thus the loss of intangible as well as tangible wealth.

So the warring nations are obviously engaged in a violent competitive effort to make each other poor. And except for human life as noted, which in itself may be considered a form of wealth, they are destructively more successful than any belligerents ever were before. Homes, office buildings, factories, bridges, schools, churches, roads, pavements, sewers—in short, all the outward, material evidences of modern civilization—are being blown up, shot away and sunk, to the value of untold billions of dollars.

And things destroyed are the equipment and machinery of modern civilization. Human beings are the main thing; yet thoughtful observers wonder whether enough material wealth and human courage can remain, to restore Europe, if present procedure there continues much longer.

Five Years of School Progress

RE-OPENING of Mansfield's public schools for the new year gives an element of timeliness to the five-year review of school progress which Superintendent W. L. Miller presented at this week's meeting of the board of education.

Except for those who are specially interested as parents of children in school, or approaching school age, it is unlikely that many people give much thought to the immensity of the task of guiding a school system of more than six thousand pupils and a teaching staff of considerably above two hundred.

Coming to a position for which he was amply qualified by previous experience, Superintendent Miller has served the Mansfield school system well during the past five years and merits the expressions of commendation accorded him by members of the board of education, who share with him in the pride of accomplishments through this period.

Some may have forgotten that it was in this half-decade that a million-dollar school expansion program was carried through by erection of two fine modern junior high schools, coupled with modernization of facilities in several elementary school buildings: the Woodland school was completed and fully equipped, and the vocational department of Senior high school was expanded by erection of an additional building, needed to increase the scope of this department to meet a constantly growing demand.

Not content to rest on accomplishments of the past, Superintendent Miller directs attention of the board of education to the fact that thought should soon be given to requirements for increased housing facilities for pupils in the elementary grades, reminding that "equipment and facilities for a better type of instruction must be continually improved."

A majority of Mansfield residents have many times evidenced willingness to meet the necessary costs of maintaining a high quality public school system in this city. It is gratifying to realize that in school board and administrative personnel this is being accomplished.

Why Not Delay Further Tear-Up?

ALTHOUGH it was rather confidently predicted yesterday by Service Director Crafton that the West Fourth street re-paving would be completed to its western terminus "before bad weather sets in," the time required for progress thus far does not appear to justify such optimism.

Fourth street has already been torn up and made totally impassable as far west as Helen avenue and unless there is reasonable assurance of completing the improvement before work is stopped by bad weather, it would seem sensible to allow the section further west to remain undisturbed, pending approach of re-paving to the point now reached in the tear-up.

This suggestion was offered by residents of West Fourth and intersecting streets, who have already been seriously discommoded by the long time they have been barred from use of the street, and is relayed by the News-Journal to those upon whom responsibility rests.

More Interest In South America

THEIR LANGUAGES—Spanish and Portuguese—are not the only things about our South American neighbors that we have neglected. There has been little study of their history. The names of Bolivar and San Martin, men as important to South Americans as Washington and Lincoln to us, are not well known in North America.

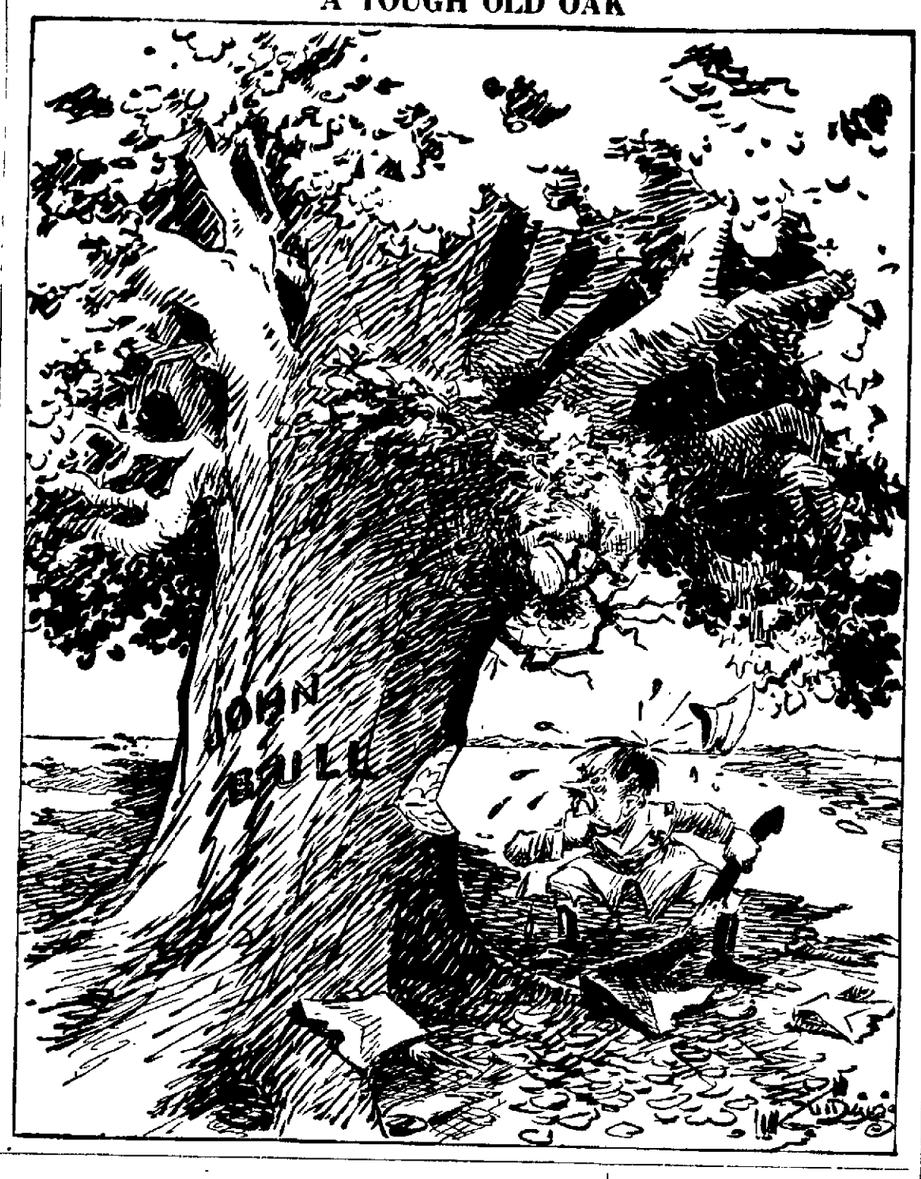
This situation is changing, however. A stream of travelers has been flowing south since Europe became a difficult region to visit. Typical tourists return thrilled by fine scenery, primitive peoples, native art, modern cities. More studious travelers report matters of interest in the realms of politics, education, sociology, and so on. All stir the interest of stay-at-homes who haven't thought about that vast continent since they left grammar school.

In a recent letter to his newspaper, a reader asked for more material on South America. He wanted excerpts from the history of those republics which parallel our own—and doubtless would be amazed to learn that their history began before ours. He wanted information about their constitutions, their national heroes, and so on.

These things can be read in encyclopedias and books. That some people are asking the information of their daily newspapers is evidence of increasing interest in the subject. That's a good beginning for better understanding and more co-operation between the peoples of the two continents.

The impression seems to be that the New York world fair was a wonderful exhibition poorly handled—and the fact that it is soon to "close forever" isn't nearly as sad as it sounds.

A TOUGH OLD OAK



Listen, World!

Make Yourself Important.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

DESPITE their great service, machines have done some evil things to human beings, the most evil being to rob them of their own sense of importance.

Over forty? If so, you'll be remembering some little village somewhere or some friendly quarter in the city where each person counted for something. Something definite. There was old Jim the cobbler who made and mended shoes for everyone in town. And Mr. E. T. Smith who ran the drug store—and dished the dirt. Or big, fat, laughing Max who kept the grocery store. And tiny, sharp-nosed Miss Minton, who had the millinery shop next the Post Office. Not to mention every farmer and his wife who hitched their horse 'n' buckboard to the rail on Saturday afternoons. Or the loafers 'round the livery stable.

Each one of those old neighbors was important and significant in his or her own way. Usually they had one-man jobs. They did some particular thing and they took pride in doing it well. They had a special way about them . . . they gave their own unique tang to life. And there was more excitement in following their tangled affairs than there is today in watching the most hectic film in Hollywood. For you took a personal interest in those affairs, you reflected their private worries and triumphs, their sense of importance.

You, too, were going to mean something some day. Something special and different. Your blood ran quicker when you dreamed of those days. It would be you—you alone—against the world! You'd be Captain Kidd and Abraham Lincoln, Kit Carson and romantic Joaquim Murietta all in one—or at least one of their sweethearts.

Talk about thrills! Why, you had more thrills talking to some old sea captain or actress than these modern youngsters get in doing a year's round of night clubs.

And then?

Well, then you grew up and became part of a Machine Age. Became a cog instead of a prospective creator. Chances are you've made money. Earned more in a week, perhaps, than your dad did in a month. Gone more places and done more things than all the old home town folk put together. Yet you'd swap most of it for one day of the old, quick, colorful life, wouldn't you, one day of feeling special and important.

Yes, life seems more colorful now. There's more noise, more glitter, more big time talk. But it doesn't stick to your ribs. When you've gone home and are loafing around in an old, faded bathrobe, there's no kick left. And you feel as lonely and insignificant as a lost coyote. Who cares a darn about you, anyway? Nobody needs you. You don't matter.

BUT YOU'RE WRONG! YOU DO MATTER! YOU ARE IMPORTANT! YOU ARE SPECIALLY AND PERSONALLY IMPORTANT—JUST AS THOSE HOME TOWN FOLK WERE WHEN YOU WERE A KID.

And in spite of the regimented rut the Machine Age has forced you into, you can regain that importance—if you will. It won't come naturally, as it did for your father and mother. But it can come, if you'll work for it. And it must come, if you wish to get anything out of life, or mean anything to yourself.

FOR NOTHING IN LIFE MEANS ANYTHING UNLESS YOU MEAN SOMETHING TO YOURSELF. UNLESS YOU FEEL YOUR OWN VITAL IMPORTANCE IN THE SCHEME OF THINGS.

So what can you do about it? You can find some special, personal interest or job for yourself. You can do something the other fellow isn't doing, even if you must work in a rut through an eight-hour day. Wood carving. Gardening. Working in brass or copper. Building furniture or rock walls. Making your own dresses, weaving your own dinner mats. Taking a mail order course in engineering. Reading along some special line—plants, poetry, politics, philosophy. Learning folk dancing. Even taking up chafing-dish or cross-pot cooking. Any one of these things will set you free from the rut you're in, restore your individuality, revive the hunger you used to feel, make you important again.

How do I know? Because I did that way myself because I refuse to let myself fade out of the picture. Try it yourself. Then write me how it works.

TODAY IN HISTORY

This is the anniversary of the death in 1881 of President Garfield, who was shot by Charles J. Guiteau, a disappointed office seeker.

Timely Editorial

They Asked For It.

No responsible American, certainly, will take pleasure in the thought of the bombing of such a great population center as Berlin. But it would be foolish to deny the satisfaction that most Americans feel in these Royal Air Force raids and the destruction they are causing—distressing though it may be.

The Germans are now getting a taste of their own medicine. There is no one who would not prefer that this retribution be visited upon Adolf Hitler and his immediate associates, rather than indiscriminately upon the German people. But that is impossible. The leaders of Nazi Germany who deliberately involved Europe in another war and are now systematically massacring the citizens of London and other British communities cannot be singled out and brought to justice. Unhappily the whole German nation must pay for the evil they have wrought.

So it is good to know in these dark days when the capital of the British Empire is being subjected to a campaign of terrorism from the air that the inhabitants of Berlin, too, know by personal experience what the British are enduring.—Detroit News.

This Is Ohio

TO the historic minded, the region watered by the Maumee, Sandusky, Vermilion, Grand, and Cuyahoga rivers offers a wealth of interesting material.

Up the Maumee a few miles from its mouth is the battlefield of fallen timbers, where, after 30 years of intermittent warfare "Mad Anthony" Wayne broke the power of the great Indian confederacy.

At Fremont, on the Sandusky, the youthful Major Croghan won a decisive victory over the British and their Indian allies and drove a foreign foe from Ohio soil. Perry's monument, an imposing memorial to the victor over a strong British fleet, stands just off the shoreline.

It was along the Vermilion, the Grand, and the Cuyahoga that the tribesmen sought to stem the progress of the Ohio pioneers. Truly these historic waterways have made their contribution to the early annals of Ohio history.

Bids On Plane Carriers Delayed, Japan Launches Copies of Design

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—How difficult it is for the government to build up a merchant marine reserve is illustrated by the inside story of the Maritime Commission's efforts to get two large luxury liners built for transpacific service.

As early as two years ago the Maritime Commission conceived the idea of building two passenger vessels with smokestacks on the side, so they could be converted into airplane carriers at a moment's notice. The idea was welcomed by the navy, but the Maritime Commission couldn't get a single American shipping yard to bid on the vessels.

All of them were busy with naval orders, and also they didn't like the fact that the Maritime Commission worked out its own designs. So they turned a cold shoulder.

Meanwhile, the Japanese heard about the Maritime Commission's efforts to get bids, and last month they launched two passenger liners also with smoke-stacks on the side, convertible into airplane carriers. In other words, they were two years ahead of the United States.

And only on Sept. 10—two years after the first effort was made—did the Maritime Commission get a bid from an American shipyard. This came from the Todd Shipbuilding company of Seattle, and the proposed price is $32,000,000, compared with only $15,000,000 paid for building the liner America.

The convertible airplane carriers would be a little larger than the America, but not enough to double the price. So the Maritime Commission will attempt to negotiate a lower price.

Note—You can write it down as certain that the government will build more navy yards of its own in the not too distant future.

Anti In-Laws.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, JR., third son of the president, is married to the former Ethel duPont, but that has no effect on the politics of his millionaire in-laws. They are most emphatically not for the re-election of the president. Young Franklin ascertained this directly from his mother-in-law.

Franklin, jr., is working at Democratic headquarters this fall before entering a New York law firm, and took time out to visit his wife at her parents' summer home in fashionable Bar Harbor, Maine. On his lapel he wore a Roosevelt-Wallace button.

The first few days nothing was said about the button, but finally Mrs. duPont took him aside and objected.

"That is most embarrassing to us, Franklin," she said. "I will have to ask you to take that button off. You can't wear that thing around here."

Telling intimates about the incident, Franklin says that his first impulse was to refuse.

"But I thought it over," he explained, "and since I was leaving shortly I decided to take it off to keep peace in the family. It was their home and if it annoyed them, I felt that the courteous thing to do was to remove it."

However, he noticed that in addition to the ban on Roosevelt campaign symbols there also seemed to be no signs of Willkie buttons or banners. When he asked his mother-in-law about this, she replied:

"It's not because we don't want them, but we got orders from New York that the rich were not to display Willkie symbols in order not to antagonize the common people."

Note—Franklin, jr., is now touring the country making speeches to young voters.

A GROUP of diplomats were lunching at one of Washington's fashionable hotels. One of the group was an Argentine, who ordered a beef dish. Another said jokingly to the waiter, 'Be sure to serve him Argentine beef. Can you do that?"

The waiter's reply shows how completely the public is aware of the politics involved in Argentine beef. "I'm afraid not," he said; "not until after the elections!"

Labor Peace-Maker.

IT IS THE BOAST of Defense Commissioner Sidney Hillman that labor has co-operated 100 per cent in the defense program; that there have been no strikes or jurisdictional fights between rival unions.

Inside light on how this record has been chalked up was the threatened AFL-CIO clash at Tacoma, Wash., last week and how Hillman cut it short.

The row arose out of a two-year-old decision of the National Labor Relations Board favoring the CIO longshoremen's union. On Friday, Sept. 6, the AFL longshoremen's union staged a walkout against their CIO rivals, and it seemed as if the Northwest was in for another siege of the costly jurisdictional labor war that has so plagued it.

When Hillman got word of this on Saturday morning, he immediately inquired if national defense production would be affected. He was told it would not, also that peace moves were under way. Tuesday he checked again, this time satisfied himself that defense was involved. He waited another day for an agreement to be reached, then swung aggressively into action on Thursday.

Telephoning union officials in Tacoma, he warned: "That strike must be called off at once. It's not in the interest of national defense. Go back to work and we'll settle this by arbitration."

Next he called the NLRB, tersely asked for a reopening of the old controversy. Then he telephoned Joe Ryan, head of the AFL union.

"Joe," he said. "That jurisdiction fight in Tacoma can't go any further. I know you and your union are patriotic and don't want to do anything to injure national defense. I am satisfied that if this strike continues it will hurt national defense and it will hurt labor. The NLRB has agreed to reopen the case and I want you to tell your boys to go back to work."

"How do I know our rights will be protected?" demanded Ryan. "After all, you are CIO."

"Listen, Joe," retorted Hillman, "I'm not CIO or AFL now. I'm working for Uncle Sam on national defense. Your rights will be protected just as much as the CIO."

"That's okay with me," replied Ryan. "I'll call Tacoma at once."

The next day the AFL longshoremen voted to return to work.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Any 15-minute stroll down Broadway, Fifth avenue, or 42nd street is sure to be productive of at least a dozen encounters. Each is worth a story, although the names involved may not always be accustomed to the bright lights.

Here is Missy, whose father, a football coach, is athletic director of Hampden-Sidney college, in Virginia. Missy's real name is Grace Logue Bernier, and she explains that shining light in her eyes with the announcement that she soon is to become the bride of the editor of a weekly newspaper, "somewhere in the east." When that happens Missy will be Mrs. Lampson Smith. Her dad (they call him "Yank") has had quite a career as a football coach. It was he who gave Alabama its first Rose Bowl team — the one that had John Mack Brown on it.

THAT black-headed young man scribbling a left-handed note on the back of a menu is Frank Wilson. Probably you don't know who he is. But you listen to what he has to say all the time. He writes the Kay Kyser show each week. He is also the author of "The Bishop and the Gargoyle," a radio feature. Frank is a Cincinnati boy, born, he tells you, "in the white-stone-stooped section made famous by Edna Ferber's 'Back Street'." For a while, after coming to New York, he lived above a speakeasy in genteel elegance, dining on peanuts and chocolate bars. Then he finally got going.

If you pass the old Amsterdam theater on 42nd street you are almost certain to bump into Nat Dorfman, theatrical press agent whose clients include Irving Berlin, Buddy Desylva, and others. But ask him what's new and he won't mention "Louisiana Purchase" or any of his other shows. With that light in his eyes that proud parents are always afflicted with he says, "My kid, he won another tournament. He's 16. I think he's going to get somewhere." Nat's "kid" is a strapping young buck who is already regarded as one of the finest amateur tennis players in the east.

HERE comes Doris Dudley, a gal in blue slacks, shapely sweater, and dark glasses. She's on her way to keep an interview with one of the drama critics. She got quite a play in the papers a little while back when John Barrymore and his wife staged that rumpus at the opening of "My Dear Children." That was when Doris was ousted from the show in favor of Barrymore's wife, Elaine, and it was then that Doris got off her classic remark to the reporters: "I am in the peculiar position of trying to light sex with talent." Between Broadway plays, Doris is being featured in a radio drama. Her papa is Bide Dudley, the drama critic.

Well, that's Broadway, that's 42nd street, that's any street. You try to get somewhere and you find yourself talking shop with people you haven't seen, or thought of, in weeks. Most of them aren't known outside of New York, but they are important. They are the people behind the scenes. The engineers who really make the wheels go round.

A Farmer's Diary

The Farm Vote

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

ALONG the village street on Saturday night I listened to a group of farmers in conversation.

"I don't believe nothin' good'll come from givin' Roosevelt three terms," said a man with a halter under his arm. "If Washington nor Jefferson nor Lincoln didn't get third terms . . ."

"That ain't no argument against FDR," suggested one of the others. "I wouldn't bar a man from a third term if the country needed him. But does it? I didn't like the way things happened at the Democratic convention. That was plain dictatorship, or I'm no judge."

"Maybe we'll need a dictator to outsmart the dictators," muttered an old fellow with a beard. "A president gets dictatorial powers in wartime, anyhow. I ain't acquainted with Roosevelt, personal, only by radio, but I've got more confidence in him than I would have in any greenhorn. Look at the string of island bases he got hold of lately. That was good business, and a stroke while the iron was hot."

"Well — maybe," remarked a lanky farmer who had been silent before, "but Roosevelt ain't no business man or he wouldn't have sunk the country into debt. If Willkie gets a chance at things, I bet he'll change that."

"The Republicans had us into a pretty fix in 1932," spoke up a new voice. "We was mighty glad when somebody in Washington dared to tell us what to do. Another man might've done worse'n Roosevelt did, with what he had to contend with. I tell you," and his voice was grave, "I wouldn't have taken much more to have started a revolution right here, about that time."

"It don't take a smart man to borrow money, if he's got good credit," spoke up someone else. "If I could borrow money enough to pay my debts and buy all modern machinery, I'd soon get my farmin' up to date. Roosevelt don't know the worth of money. He's been born with a silver spoon in his mouth. Of course he could borrow public money and sling it around, to loosen up things in a crisis—but what about our children and our children's children, who'll pay it back with sweat?"

"Depressions and wars bring their leaders with them," remarked the man who had spoken first. "Wendell Willkie's the hope of this country . . ."

"That's what the billboards say," ejaculated a man who had come up carrying an empty milk can in one hand. "Just because he ran a utility company is no sign he'd be a wow as president. What say, Smitty? How are you goin' to vote?"

Smitty, a wizened little man, took a plug of tobacco from his pocket. The men all watched. "I'm keepin' my mind open and my mouth shut," he said, and bit off a big chew.

DELEGATES GET CHEERING WORD

the senate of Mayor Harold H. Burton, of Cleveland.

Willkie's words topped off an enthusiastic one-day party conclave which rang with unanimous denunciation of a third term for President Roosevelt and his New Deal as a danger to the nation and charges that the president had botched national finances and neglected national defense. In contrast there was applause for the record of the Bricker state administration and praise for Willkie as a dynamic national leader.

The convention adopted a platform, the chief plank of which pledged "sufficient" appropriations to carry out the law raising the maximum payable old age pension to $40 monthly and condemned as "misleading, insincere and impossible of fulfillment the promises made to the aged in the Democratic state platform."

The platform completely ignored the Democratic proposal for repeal of the state sales tax but it promised to pay pensions, school costs and other obligations in cash and when due. Republicans have said that this cannot be done if the sales tax is repealed and nothing substituted. The Democrats suggested no specific substitute but recognized that other revenues would be necessary.

Governor Bricker in his address declared no new taxes would be necessary for state government.

He shared the platform at the evening session with Sen. Robert A. Taft and Mayor Burton, the latter enjoying a tremendous ovation in sharp contrast to the cool treatment he received at the preprimary rally last spring. Both hit the third term issue vigorously and Burton claimed that the campaign was a "fight to let the American people in on their own government."

Bricker declared he would not engage in "mud slinging and character assassination in the campaign because that, he said, "debauched" the state during the Davey administration. He reviewed, however, some of the findings of the senate graft investigation into the Davey regime and told the convention:

"They'll never have to investigate this administration so long as I am governor of Ohio."

RELIEF COSTS

Richland County Total For August Hits $8,817.

Mansfield and Richland county's relief costs last month totaled $8,817, of which the state will furnish 39.7 per cent from its statewide allocation of $750,000 for August, Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood reported today in Columbus.

A total of $3,489 will be made to the city and county. The city's share of the allocation will amount to $1,869 and the county's share will be $1,623, dispatches from Columbus said.

Sherwood reported that total expenditures for the month were the highest since May and $32,552 more than in July, when the state furnished 40.2 per cent. Grants were made to 149 relief areas in the state.

Informed sources said these sums would be sufficient to meet expenditures for draft trainees and mobilized national guardsmen until well into the 1941 calendar year.

Although final congressional action on the appropriations was expected to require several days, all states already have received tentative allotments from it to defray the costs of printing the conscription forms and literature now being distributed.

While the war department was proceeding with its plans for the conscription registration Oct. 16, the senate wrote into the excess profits tax bill a provision enabling the president to establish allowances for dependents of those drafted.

The provision was phrased in broad language purposely in order that senate and house conferees may work out a more definite plan later. The outlay for dependents is expected to be relatively small at first, because the general policy will be to place men who are supporting other members of their family in a deferred classification. However, they may be drafted later.

bombing and machine-gunning of the Italian air force, the marshal reported.

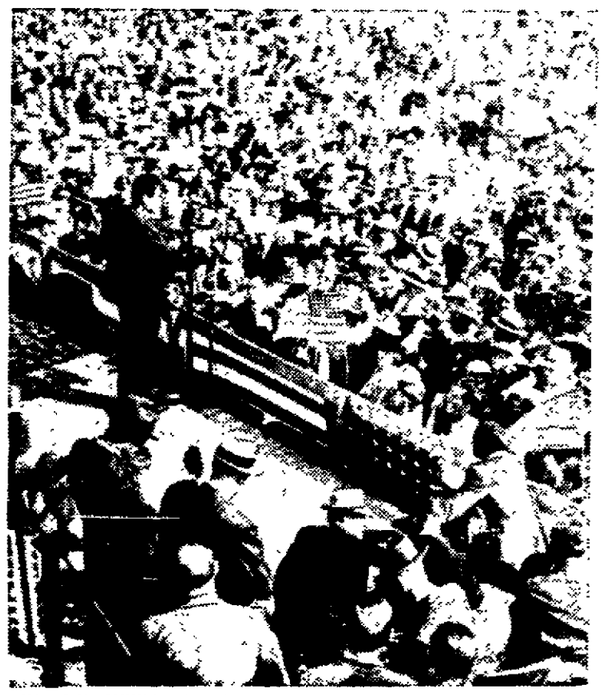
The British had considered it impossible to spring a military surprise in the desert where cover is lacking to conceal troop movements, the Italian commander reported, and had concentrated their motorized forces south of Sidi Omar, some miles from the coast.

The Italians then launched their attack along the coastal road toward Sidi Barrani with their left wing in a sudden change of plans.

Libyan troops marched on foot 150 miles in eight days, with only about a quart of water per day for each man, the commander said, despite suffocating heat in a sandstorm.

Italian bombers and fighters put the British fleet to flight and seriously damaged a 10,000-ton cruiser with an aerial torpedo when the warships closed in to shell Italy's new positions and communication lines between Bardia and newly-seized Sidi Barrani, Egypt, the communique said.

As Willkie Invaded West Coast



Wendell Willkie is pictured addressing an enthusiastic crowd that greeted him at San Bernardino, Cal., as he swung his presidential campaign tour into California. The Republican nominee spoke briefly on the new defense program and the "rehabilitation" of industry "by putting men in office who know something about production."

DECLARES FDR LACKING FAITH

lon dollars; and Mr. Roosevelt has the power to change at will the value of money, to raise and lower our tariffs, to close our banks and stock exchanges, and to appoint and virtually control commissions that regulate from Washington almost all our business.

"It is a significant fact that Mr. Roosevelt has never tried to solve our problems the other way—that is by economy in government and by the encouragement of business. He has never tried the simple, homely, remedy of confidence—confidence in us, in our enterprises, in our ability to make things work.

"The truth is, he has lost faith in us. Whenever a problem arises, he does not think that we can solve it. He steps in and tries to solve it himself. That is why he has accumulated so much power and spent so much money.

"What we want is a government that has faith in us. When we set a regulatory commission, we do not want that commission to treat us like thieves or at best like children. We want it to regulate us as grown-up people eager and able to do a job.

"That is my prescription for recovery. I know the American people will do best if their enterprises are set free."

For his own part, Willkie said: "What this country needs is a little faith—faith not only in its industries but faith in the people. I have that faith and if you elect me to office, you will see the difference."

The candidate had another approach to the voters of lower California where tree branches bend low with summer oranges.

"You're in a great citurs country," he asserted at several station stops. "You've had it pretty tough. The people who buy your products work in the factories. When the factories are running, your business is prosperous. When the factories are not running, your business is not. That's the way the country runs." And Willkie promised that if he was elected he would, with his knowledge of industry and economics, get the factory wheels turning and increase the market for the citrus growers.

"Roosevelt never saw a factory gate until he visited one after he was in politics," he said.

On the program arranged locally for the candidate today was a morning visit to an aviation factory to attend the christening of an advanced training ship, advertised as the first to be delivered under the defense program.

Then there was to be a street parade, a conference with labor leaders and finally a speech in the Memorial coliseum.

The candidate will spend an entire day in Los Angeles leaving shortly after midnight. Bakersfield is to be visited tomorrow and then the candidate heads for northern California and eventually into Oregon and Washington. Willkie, personally, is still satisfied with his western expedition up to this point.

LASSOES TAIL

OXFORD—(AP)—Dr John Durigg isn't so sure he'd like western life. When a 350-pound bull calf got loose, he went after it with a horse and lariet only to have the rope catch on the horse's tail. Traffic Officer Harry Spencer cornered the bull and literally took it by the horns while others tied it.

BRIDGE CROSSER

ST. LOUIS—(U.P.)—Henry J. Van Bibber has crossed McKinley Bridge over the Mississippi river 261,410 times in the last 25 years and traveled a total of 327,012 miles over the structure, first as a street car motorman and later as bus driver.

CONFERENCE ON BALKAN CHANGE

Ribbentrop Visit to Rome Reported Preliminary to New Moves.

He arrived at 12:55 p. m. (5:55 a. m., EST).

In the past, Ribbentrop's meeting with Mussolini and Ciano have been forerunners to startling military or political developments. The purpose of this trip was not yet revealed.

In the reception committee at the station were Ciano and foreign office officials, the German ambassador, Hans von Machinsen, the Japanese ambassador, Eiji Amua, the Hungarian minister, Baron Federico Villani and the Bulgarian minister, Svetoslav Pomenow.

Reports were that this conference concerned Spain—possibly a Spanish grab for Gibraltar, backed by the Axis powers. Ramon Serrano Suner, Spanish interior minister and head of the Spanish nationalist council, is now in Berlin being feted by Nazi leaders after conferences with Von Ribbentrop and Adolf Hitler.

Some quarters here said that the foreign minister would discuss the Axis powers' relations with other world powers, including the United States, but that it was highly unlikely that they would spend much time talking about the deal whereby the United States traded Great Britain 50 destroyers for air and navy bases in the western hemisphere, since that deal is completed and nothing can be done about it.

New Balkan Bloc Predicted

BUDAPEST — (INS) — A new Balkan bloc — leaving Rumania completely out of the picture—was foreseen today by the Turkish newspaper Yenisebah.

Planned by Turkey, the bloc would include Greece and Yugoslavia, the newspaper said. However, Bulgaria's participation in the group is extremely doubtful although an invitation will be extended in the direction of Sofia, the report said, adding that the bloc would aim for total neutrality.

FURS STOLEN

Jeromesville Man Held For Theft From Friend.

ASHLAND — Charged with stealing a set of fox furs from Lena Clark of Jeromesville after he is said to have threatened her, Vincent DeAndires alias Albert Roma is being held in the county jail here in lieu of $1,000 bond.

DeAndires, who is said to have demanded the furs from his friend so that he could pawn them, is charged by her with taking them, after she refused him.

He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace R. R. Teeter.

Also bound over to the grand jury is George Kline, charged with the theft of four wheels from a road scraper. The wheels, valued at $60 were said to be taken from Loudonville.

Kline was released from the county jail on posting bond of $50.

60TH TRANSFUSION

WATERTOWN, Mass. — (U.P.) — Wayne E. Phelps, 33, a former gasoline station attendant, now is living on borrowed blood. Victim of a rare type of anemia, he has had his 60th transfusion. So far he has received eight gallons of transfused blood.

New Officers Elected By Bank Group

Here are the new officers of Group Six of the Ohio Bankers' association, elected yesterday by more than 400 bankers from nine northcentral Ohio counties who gathered at Westbrook Country club or their 34th annual meeting. Paul M. Eliot, secretary-treasurer of the Farmers Savings and Trust company, center, was named chairman. On the left is Paul A. Warner, vice president of the Knox county Savings bank, Mt. Vernon, who was elected vice chairman, and on the right, W. B. Kuhn, cashier of the Citizens bank, Shelby, named secretary-treasurer.

METALLIC MAN REMEMBERS WAR

Chunks of Metal Still Find Way Out of Body of Ohio Veteran.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE — (AP) — German bullets won't let Frank Zaersnik forget the battle of Verdun.

For 22 years chunks of metal have been finding their way out of his body. By operation and by natural extraction 24 bits have been taken from his 170-odd pounds of flesh.

Zaersnik, now an employe of the Piney Fork mine of the Hanna Coal company, joined the navy in 1912 and was transferred to the air corps after the United States entered the World war.

On a front-line air-drome, where he was a mechanic, he was struck in the leg by a bullet during the Verdun battle. The shock knocked him to the ground and a huge shell burst about 10 feet away.

At that time the Germans, running short of steel, put anything of a piercing nature in bursting shells. Nails, needles, shot—even buttons, one of which was removed from Frank's hand recently—went into the shell.

Frank miraculously survived the blast, but ever since has carried his "souvenirs." Doctors tell him that x-rays have shown still more bits of metal in his body.

Zaersnik's ability to work was not impaired by his experience. He is regarded as one of the best motor operators at the Piney Fork mine.

CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTOR

CALDWELL — (AP) — Mrs. Rosie Bates sued for divorce here, alleging that her husband, Francis L. Bates, objected to her drinking "more than one cup of coffee for breakfast." They were married Dec. 14, 1939.

WILL ATTEND LEGION MEET

Six Mansfielders Planning Trip to 5-Day National Conclave at Boston.

Ohio's 56 delegates to the national convention of American Legion will converge on Boston this week-end for a five-day meeting. Walter L. Beckley, Mansfield, a state alternate, and R. B. Gardner, retiring head of the Ohio Legion, will form in the official delegation.

Other Mansfielders who will attend the convention are Mrs. Gardner, Mrs. Beckley, Howard Newman, who is a member of the prize winning Massillon Drum corps which will compete in the national contests this year, and Harold Bloodgood.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardner left Wednesday for Washington, D. C. where they will spend two days before going on to Boston, Saturday, when the others plan to leave here.

As Australian Cruiser Sank Italian Warship Off Island of Crete

NAVY REDUCES BUILDING TIME OF BATTLESHIP

Brooklyn Yard Expects To Trim Schedule Third, Manager Says.

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—Battleship construction at the Brooklyn navy yard is expected to be reduced one-third, according to Capt. Joseph Broshek, industrial manager of the yard.

Original plans calling for an unprecedented output are being outstripped, Capt. Broshek said. There are 4,300 men working on the 35,000-ton battleship North Carolina; 1,300 on the 45,000-ton Iowa—a number which is being steadily increased, and the remainder of the force is at work in various shops of the yard and in repairing old destroyers. The keel of the 45,000-ton battleship Missouri is to be laid next January but work is already under way on the materials to be used.

The navy yard already employing 15,475 men, still needs the services of skilled machinists, ship fitters and others for a building program which has been speeded up to break all previous records at the yard.

Skilled workmen, being hired daily, although not in as large numbers as could be used, are rated under the civil service as quickly as they register with the navy yard's labor board. Men who visit the yard to apply are met by a Marine, one of those regularly assigned to guard duty, and are escorted through the gate to the labor board offices, just inside. No outsiders are permitted in the yard. Regular employes are required to wear identification badges, bearing their pictures, to gain entrance each day.

Until the present, the yard's highest peak of employment was during the World war, when 8,700 men were at work. Many others at that time also worked for the navy in shipyards throughout the third naval district. Today, of the 15,475 men employed, 800 are WPA workers and 645 are assigned to work outside the yard, although on the payroll.

Part of the work consists of the routine overhauling of 13 old destroyers, of the type to be transferred to Great Britain. Capt. Broshek said he had not yet received official notification as to the disposition of the destroyers.

Present plans call for extensive overhauling of the destroyers Lea, Philips, Dahlgren, Twiggs, Little and Gregory. Seven others—the Leary, Ruben, James, Bailey, Shubrick, Swasey, Meade and Broome—have been checked over for a scheduled naval reserve cruise.

Capt. Broshek said he had not been informed whether more old destroyers would be turned over to the Brooklyn yard for reconditioning.

AUTOS GAIN

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — (U.P.) — Alabama had 325,472 automobiles registered in 1939, an increase of 7.8 per cent over the number listed in 1938, according to Frank S. Spain, president of the Alabama Motorists' Association. Registration and other motor vehicle fees collected last year amounted to $4,947,000.

CUSTOM RULES BAYOU PEOPLE

Superstitious Residents Go By Almanac For Moving Into New Home.

LOCKPORT, La.—(U.P.)—The Lafourche parish oil fields are bringing in hundreds of oil field workers and their families and they're learning things about parish customs and superstitions.

The bayou people, steeped in tradition and old wives' tales, have their own ideas about when and how to move into a new house. With houses at a premium, strangers are surprised to see homes stand vacant even after they've been "spoken for."

The almanac will tell you when to move. It's best when the moon is full, and don't make that mistake of moving when the moon is on the wane.

The first thing the housewife does when she moves to a new address is to clean the home very thoroughly, as much because she wants to clean out all the vestiges of bad luck that the previous tenants left as to remove the actual dirt.

The occasion demands the use of a new broom, because no discerning housewife would dream of taking an old broom into a new house. Furniture is placed carefully, according to custom. Beds point in the same direction. Some say the beds should be placed on the north wall, others contend the beds should be placed so the sleepers' heads point toward the rising sun.

Cattle-raising is Argentina's oldest industry.

BEGIN TRAINING IN AIR CORPS

Mansfielders Will Leave For Texas School Oct. 16.

Two Mansfield boys who volunteered for service in the air corps last month and who have already taken preliminary examinations, will leave for training school at Randolph field, San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 16.

Robert Spreng, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Spreng, Park avenue west, will learn to be a bomber. Robert Selby, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Selby, 216 South Foster street, has enlisted for training as a pursuit pilot.

Spreng is an insurance salesman and Selby is a tire salesman. Both will be sent to Randolph Field, San Antonio, Tex.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swellings, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Health Rules Never Bother Perfect Child

PEORIA, Ill.—(U.P.)—The proper way to rear a "perfect" child according to a mother who has done so in the eyes of medical authorities, is to avoid intricate health rules and "don't try to force your child to eat."

The mother is Mrs. Joseph C. Thompson, whose daughter, Joan Carole, age three, was one of two children given 100 per cent health ratings in the Better Babies Conference contest at the Illinois State Fair at Springfield.

Joan Carole was tied for first place in the health contest with the year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Henry of Gillespie. Henry is the former "Web" Henry of University of Illinois football fame, who now coaches at Gillespie high school.

"Lots of milk and plenty of sunshine are very important and so are regular checkups with the doctor and dentist," said Mrs. Thompson.

Joan Carole eats a heavy breakfast but goes light at lunch and dinner. Last year her mother was afraid that Joan was not eating enough to provide the necessary energy for strenuous child play but later decided the child's appetite was in proportion to her needs.

Australia has about 100,000 men under arms.

RATTLER BITE ISN'T SERIOUS

KIMBALL, Neb. —(U.P.)— Does a person once bitten by a rattlesnake become immune from future attacks by America's most deadly serpents? That is the question Kimball doctors asked after Ruel Schindler, farmer came to see them several days after he had been bitten by a diamondback.

Schindler complained of a stinging sensation in his leg and his hip pained him, but had been able to perform his duties for a long time after being bitten. The physician figured the poison had already spread throughout his body and could offer no remedy. Schindler said he had been bitten by a rattler several years ago, but recovered fully after suction treatment.

'Threw Away My Box of Soda After I Started On Vendol'

Butler, Ohio, Resident Had No Signs of Sour, Gassy, Upset Stomach. After Getting Gratifying Relief from Constipation.

"After taking Vendol a short time I threw away my box of soda," says Mr. Sam Carter, highly esteemed resident of Butler, a few miles from Mansfield.

"Most everything I ate turned sour, upset my stomach, and I'd suffer from acid rising, lump in my throat, heartburn, palpitation, shortness of breath, awful cramps and a nervous jittery feeling in my stomach. This condition was associated with constipation which also kept me from getting restful sleep so that most every morning I'd get up feeling about as tired as the night before, with a lame back and legs.

"I heard so much praise for Vendol that I began taking it a few weeks ago, and it gave marvelous relief from my constipation and helped to neutralize the excess stomach acids so now I feel fine all the time and advise everyone suffering this way to get Vendol without delay."

Give Vendol a chance to help you too, like it has so many men and women right here in this city and nearby vicinity.

PROTECTION OF OWN INTERESTS PLACED FIRST

(By International News Service)

VICHY—France will accept the inevitable and bow to Japanese demands for passage of troops through French Indo-China, Foreign Minister Paul Baudouin declared today in an interview with representatives of the American press.

Baudouin asserted that France can expect no help from Britain and the United States and that the Petain government must follow a realistic policy of safeguarding the French empire.

(Editor's Note: At Washington, yesterday, Secretary of State Cordell Hull said he was loath to believe that Japan would send troops into French Indo-China in violation of its pledge to uphold the "status quo" in the Orient.)

France stands alone in negotiations with the Japanese, Baudouin said. He revealed that the first Tokyo demand for passage of her troops through Indo-China was delivered June 13, the same day that Marshal Weygand reached the decision that France must appeal to Germany and Italy for an armistice.

Admiral Decoux, then governor general of Indo-China, managed those negotiations, Baudouin said. But a new Japanese demand was delivered Aug. 2 which in turn was met by French refusal to negotiate under threat of military occupation.

"We admit that Japan is the strongest power in the Far East," Baudouin said, and intend to follow a realistic policy of safeguarding the interests of the French empire and its unity.

"The United States government has been informed of the progress of these negotiations since their beginning.

"But as Indo-China has lived until now within the shadow of Anglo-Saxon power in the Far East, we must consider that we are acting alone since we cannot expect anything but diplomatic help from Britain and the United States, now too much engaged in the European war to have time for the Far East."

MEETING SET

Townsend's Son to Speak on Pensions Here Friday.

Townsend clubs of Mansfield and the 17th Congressional district will hear Robert C. Townsend, son of Dr. Francis E. Townsend, founder of the Townsend movement, speak on old-age pensions at Warner hall, 54½ North Main street, Friday at 7:30 p. m.

Townsend is secretary-treasurer of the Townsend national organization.

Dancing, bingo, and a hot lunch will follow Townsend's address. Maxine Murray, Avis Laverne Forrest and Barbara Leiby will also entertain at the gathering.

TAKEN TO B. I. S.

A 17-year-old Mansfield youth with a long record of thefts was taken to the Lancaster Boys' Industrial school yesterday by Ralph Carroll, county juvenile officer.

The youth was sentenced by Judge C. J. Anderson after the boy admitted breaking into a house where he formerly roomed on Heineman boulevard and taking some clothing and $9 in cash.

Juvenile records showed the youth has been involved in the theft of five cars and money during the past three years.

DEDICATE 30-N BRIDGE TODAY

State Officials to Speak at Ceremony Officially Opening $150,000 Structure.

The new $150,000 grade elimination project on route 30-N just east of Crestline will be dedicated with a ceremony at 4 p. m. today at the structure and a dinner at 6:30 p. m. in the Crestline Lutheran church.

Lieutenant Governor Paul Herbert will be the principal speaker. Others scheduled to speak are John Heier of the state highway department at Columbus and Murray D. Shafer, Ashland district state highway engineer.

The Crestline chamber of commerce will be in charge of the dinner program tonight in the Crestline church.

Work on the overhead structure which spans the Pennsylvania railroad was completed recently and traffic is flowing over it. The structure is 2,200 feet long and has a road bed 24 feet wide.

Contract work on the project was done by George B. Herring and Son and the Purdy Construction company, both of Mansfield. Work was started in July, 1939.

TEST CASE UP

Appeals Court Hears Sewer Rental Litigation.

Beginning its second day of hearings in Richland county this morning, the Fifth district appeals court heard arguments in a test case involving Mansfield's sewer rental ordinance.

Brought up from common pleas court which upheld the ordinance, the case involves an action started by Mrs. Druzella Gatton, Mansfield, against the city after the water and sewer services to her home were discontinued for nonpayment of a sewer rental bill.

He counsel, Atty. Joseph Ellison, argued that the city is not authorized to discontinue one service for non-payment of a bill for another associated with it. City Solicitor M. D. Ward, jr., presented the city's side of the case at today's hearing.

The court yesterday dismissed an appeal for a writ of habeas corpus for Mrs. Mary Kirkendall, since she served her sentence and was released from the county jail before the appeal came before the court.

The court was expected to complete its stay in Mansfield by tonight after considering 11 cases.

Flags Presented At Constitution Day Ceremonies

A patriotic assembly was staged at Mansfield Senior high school yesterday by the 12-A class to commemorate "Constitution Day."

Eldon Snecringer, treasurer of last June's graduating class, presented the school with an American flag and a school flag as a gift from the June 1940 graduating class.

Following the presentation ceremony, Pearl Rube spoke on "Our Constitution" and Richard Wendland gave a talk on "National Defense."

With Ada Mae Harbaugh leading, the school body then sang "God Bless America," and the band played the "Star Spangled Banner." A pledge of allegiance to the flag closed the program.

HOME DEFENSE BILL APPROVED

Two More Ohio Guard Units Called to Service In November.

WASHINGTON — The senate and house military affairs committees today approved legislation authorizing the states to create home defense units to supplant national guard units ordered into active federal service.

The war department meanwhile announced that Nov. 18 and Nov. 25 have been set tentatively for induction of the third and fourth increments of the national guard into active service.

Two additional Ohio National Guard units, the 192nd Tank Battalion and the 112th Observation Squadron, will go into training on Nov. 18.

Earlier this week approximately 9,500 other Ohio National Guardsmen of the 97th Infantry were ordered to mobilize on Oct. 15 for a year's training at Camp Shelby, Miss.

Company C of the 192nd Tank Battalion is stationed at Port Clinton, O., and the only Ohio unit of the 112th Observation Squadron (aviation) has headquarters in Cleveland.

Mobilization of these two units will leave only Companies G and I of the 112th Medical Regiment of the Ohio National Guard at home. Company G has headquarters in Mt. Vernon and Company I in Akron. Their services are not deemed necessary at this time.

PLANE ORDERS

War Department Contracts For 9,174 War Planes.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary Stimson announced today that the war department had signed contracts since July 1 for 9,174 of 18,641 war planes for which congress has provided funds at this session.

Reviewing progress made by the army in reinforcing defense in the last three months, Stimson said the figures were for airplane purchases "as of today."

At the same time Stimson in a series of announcements, disclosed tentative plans to call to active duty approximately 37,000 national guard officers and men in November. They will comprise the third and fourth national guard increments to be called out.

Under present plans, no further units then will be ordered to service before Jan. 3.

FALLS TO DEATH

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Margaret Mogyorody, 11, fell five stories down a hotel freight elevator shaft to her death yesterday.

RESIDENTS STAND IN RUINS OF HOMES TO CHEER ROYAL COUPLE

LONDON — (AP) — Residents of Chelsea stood amid the ruins of their homes today and cheered King George and Queen Elizabeth as they inspected the bombed area.

Chelsea is the section of London where lived the famous British painter, J. M. W. Turner, and later the American, James McNeill Whistler.

"You are doing a grand job," the queen told air raid precaution workers.

A 66-year-old woman, who had sheltered an old woman friend, said neither was scratched in the raid.

"Wasn't is wonderful, your majesty?" she asked the queen.

The queen nodded and said: "But you must have been badly shaken?"

"Oh, yes, but I'm all right now," said the woman.

Later the king and queen visited a block of bomb-wrecked flats in Marylebone, then drove to Mme. Tussaud's wax works, damaged by raiders last week.

In one street the king and queen spoke to an ARP squad who had tunneled for seven and a half hours in the ruins of a doctor's home and rescued his daughter, the men using their bodies as props to hold up debris.

CLUBS ORGANIZE

Y. W. C. A. Organizations Elect Officers for Year.

Officers for the year were elected by two Y. W. C. A. clubs of young business women, who held their first meetings of the new season last night.

The Garcia club elected Hildred Fackler, president; Lee Weigand, vice president; Ellen Terry, secretary, and Rowena Failor, treasurer. Kay Johnson was chosen president of Beta Epsilon, with Marjorie Hayward as vice president, and Margaret Rizer, secretary-treasurer.

Plans were discussed for sending delegates to the annual business girls' conference to be held at Camp Yota near North Springfield, Pa., the week-end of Oct. 5 and 6. The two clubs will have seven official delegates at the conference.

The girls last night met the two new Y. W. staff secretaries, Miss Lucy Wakeland, who took over the post of general secretary Sept. 1, and Miss Norma Sheer, new groups secretary.

APPLESEED P.-T. A. MEETS TONIGHT

After two weeks of getting organized, activities at Johnny Appleseed junior high school settled down to normal yesterday with the announcement of a meeting of committee heads and officers of the Johnny Appleseed Parents and Teachers association to be held at the school tonight at 7:30 p. m.

Purpose of the meeting will be to map plans for the coming year, Earl Wendell, president, said today.

Announcement was also made today of the organization of a new art club at the school to study clay modeling, sketching, and art crafts during the coming year.

Mary Bushnell was elected president of the club: Roberta Lemley, vice president: Anne Marie Fischer, secretary: and Jean Johnston, treasurer. Miss Virginia Stark will act as adviser.

PAINESVILLE — (AP) — Sheriff James Moloney of Lake county sought today to learn identity of a middle-aged man whose body was washed asore from Lake Erie east of here last night.

Prohibits Sale Of Coupon Books By School Pupils

Sale of merchandise and service coupon books by Mansfield school children was ordered discontinued today by Superintendent W. L. Miller whose attention was called to the matter by merchants.

At the same time officials of the Richland County Red Cross issued a statement to the effect that neither the senior chapter nor the Junior Red Cross committee had been consulted on the sale of books, which children had started to sell for the benefit of the Junior Red Cross.

John Finefrock, chairman of the chapter, said that the by-laws of the national Red Cross forbade such undertakings for the purpose of raising money. "The Red Cross name and emblem may be used to raise money only when the entire proceeds of a sale or entertainment are given to the organization. The name of the Red Cross cannot be used in any instance where another concern receives any of the profit."

The coupon books were being sold on a percentage basis, 40 per cent of the receipts going to the Red Cross and 60 per cent to the promoter.

UNION REVIVAL

The union revival meetings are held in the Mayflower Church, 44 Buckingham street, nightly except Saturday. "Our Physical Heritage in Christ" will be the sermon topic for tonight. The service begins at 7:30 with a musical program.

3 COMEDIES TO BE STAGED BY PLAYERS HERE

Bromfield Play, 'Here Today, Gone Tomorrow,' to Usher In Season Dec. 3-4.

Three comedies will make up the program of the Mansfield Community Players for the 1940-41 season, according to plays decided upon last night by the board of governors which met at the home of Mrs. E. K. Bacon, Glenwood boulevard.

Heading the list is the Louis Bromfield comedy-drama, "Here Today, Gone Tomorrow," to be presented on two nights. "I Killed the Count," an intriguing mystery comedy, will be the second presentation, with "What A Life" the final presentation. The latter is a comedy based on the antics of Henry Aldrich. It was done in the movies with Jackie Cooper as the bewildered high school boy, and on the stage with Jackie Coogan. Both performances have been in Mansfield.

The Bromfield show is set for Dec. 3 and 4 at John Simpson auditorium. It is expected to draw an unusually large crowd because of interest in the Mansfield author, the fact that it is the first time the play has ever been presented on any stage, and the possibility that the author may play a part in it.

The second play will be given Feb. 11, and the third March 18.

A promotion committee which will have charge of advertising and publicity was named by the board last night. It is made up of Ruhland Isaly, Mrs. Sherman Glessner, R. O. Richards, Dr. Philmour Bein, and Paul Bell.

Richards was elected a member of the board last night, filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of John McCann.

Ticket sales will be in charge of Mrs. Glessner and Mrs. H. H. Schettler, and the ticket campaign is expected to open about Oct. 1. The same price, $2.75 for the season of three plays, will prevail again this year, according to Mrs. Bacon.

The next meeting of the board will be held Oct. 28 at the home of Miss Katharine Hartman, Park avenue west.

Poling Makes Predictions on Football Leaders.

Predictions of what teams will be leading various conferences at the close of the 1940 football season and a brief history of the game were included last night in a talk before 45 members of the Junior Association of Commerce by Richard Poling, Mansfield football prognosticator.

At the meeting, held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, Farmers' Bank building, Donald Zelenka and Lionel Smaltz were elected to the board of directors.

Harry Hollingsworth, president, in charge of the meeting, appointed a committee headed by Richard Burnham to study the one-mill operating levy to be submitted to Mansfield voters at the November election.

Hong Kong was ceded by China to Great Britain in 1841.

CROWD OF 10,000 TURN OUT FOR ASHLAND FAIR OPENING

ASHLAND—An estimated 10,000 persons crowded the grounds on the opening day of the Ashland county fair, it was reported by James Afterholt, secretary of the fair board.

Coming in from early morning until late last night, the huge crowd of adults and school children from all points in the county were kept busy visiting all the points of interest, for it has been the aim of the county fair board to make this year's Ashland fair, one of the biggest ever.

Wednesday was Ashland Day, and Ashland merchants closed their places of business in the afternoon, to allow employes and their families to go to the fair.

Judging began at 9:30, with the entries in the junior division, except the livestock, coming under the scrutiny of the experts in judging. Also judged were the horticultural and agricultural exhibits in the women's division.

Mayor Howard S. Lutz took time out from his official duties to welcome Ashlanders at the fair. He preceded a band concert presented by the Ashland high school band, under the direction of Dr. Louis E. Pete.

A horse race program began at 1:30 p. m., and extended well into the afternoon, with a varied program following in the evening.

Today, the fair was scheduled to be opened as Loudonville Day, with the judging of horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, poultry, rabbits.

Mayor E. L. Smith of Loudonville was scheduled to welcome guests this afternoon, after which a concert was to be played by the Loudonville band. Scheduled for the remainder of the day were the race program, a stock parade and a rodeo.

PRESIDENT TO SPEAK FRIDAY

Secretary 'Wouldn't Know' If Philadelphia Talk Is Political.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — The White House announced today that President Roosevelt will leave Washington tonight for Philadelphia, where tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock (EST) he will speak at the University of Pennsylvania and receive an honorary law degree.

Prior to his afternoon address, which may answer some of Republican Presidential Nominee Wendell Willkie's recent charges Mr. Roosevelt plans to inspect the Philadelphia navy yard, the new 16-story naval hospital and the army and navy supply depots.

The keel of the 45,000 ton battleship New Jersey was laid in Philadelphia only last week, and the 35,000 ton battleship Washington is almost completed.

From Philadelphia, the president will go to Hyde Park for the week-end. Saturday he will join in celebration of the 86th birthday of his mother, Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt. He expects to return to the national capital Monday or Tuesday.

When Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early was asked whether tomorrow's speech at Philadelphia would be political or not, he replied:

"I wouldn't know."

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Friends Honor Miss Palmer at Several Parties

The last in a series of pre-nuptial parties honoring Miss Julianne Palmer, bride-elect of Harry A. Wineland, was the spinster dinner given yesterday evening by Miss Virginia Moorhead at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Following the dinner, the guests went to the Moorhead home on Western avenue, where they made a bride's book. The hostess presented Miss Palmer with a gift of silver in honor of the occasion.

Tuesday noon, Miss Frances Strickler feted Miss Palmer with a luncheon-bridge party at her home on Park avenue west. Prizes in the bridge games at that time were won by Miss Moorhead and Miss Carolyn Woltmann, and the bride-elect received a gift of silver from Miss Strickler.

Miss Mary Leigh Burleson also gave a luncheon-bridge party for Miss Palmer at her home on Chevy Chase road, and the guests showered the bride-elect with bridge party gifts. Miss Betty Penhorwood and Miss Woltmann entertained with a dessert-bridge party and kitchen shower for the prospective bride one evening recently too.

Miss Palmer and Mr. Wineland will exchange nuptial vows tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in a formal ceremony at the First Congregational church. They are having a buffet-supper party for their wedding attendants this evening at the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jay R. Palmer, 793 Park avenue west, before the rehearsal at the church.

Honor Recent Bride At Session of Class

When members of the Gleaners class met last night at the home of Mrs. Robert Portner, 146½ South Diamond street, they honored Mrs. Erwin Winbigler, the former Miss Mildred Desterhaft, with a miscellaneous shower. Games and contests were the diversion with prizes, which were later awarded to the bride, going to Mrs. Rose Bowser, Mrs. Ellen Howard and Mrs. Erma Ewalt.

Miss Vivian Ost was associate hostess. The newly elected officers are Mabel Reichert, president; Florence Small, secretary, and Florence Hout, treasurer. When refreshments were served yellow and green appointments were used.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Leave her bathrobe and slippers and a pair of hose by the bed," Miss Whitlock said when she apparently had decided that even Edith's despondent lethargy was a bit lightened at the prospect of moving to new quarters, and that she would give us no further trouble.

"It's a good thing I'm used to living in a suitcase," she added with a dry little chuckle. "I don't have much trouble sorting out my belongings."

"Nor I," I said with an answering smile, and then carried out her last instructions.

She was ready, and so was I, well before the end of the ten minutes she had named. Just after her ultimatum to Edith, the nurse had given her some drops which I knew must be a potent stimulant, and had renewed her injunction to lie back, close her eyes and relax. Edith was docilely obeying the first two directions, but I doubted how much acquiescence she was able to give the last one.

When she had adjusted the last strap, Miss Whitlock straightened herself and looked at me.

"Is there anybody at hand who can bring these bags down to your study within the next five minutes?" she asked. "I mean after we go. I don't want anybody here now."

I considered a second dismissing Jim, working outside the house and Katie, with her propensity for trying to find out things which she was not supposed to know. Then I realized that I had no further to go than the corridor outside.

"Yes, there is," I said. "Wait just a minute."

"As long as you like," she answered. "There is no urgency for a few minutes."

But I knew that she wished to get Edith transferred, before the potent drops should have time to wear out, and the knowledge led fleetness to my feet as I rushed out of the door, and whisked around the corner where I knew Lillian and Katherine were awaiting the result of my visit to Edith and her nurse.

They were deep in low-voiced and earnest colloquy when I reached them, and I had the intuitive feeling that I was the subject of their conversation. But as they saw me, their faces registered instant, alert attention.

"You look as if things were doing," Lillian commented.

"There are," I replied breathlessly. "Miss Whitlock is taking Edith downstairs at once. Left in the room are two suitcases, two small bags, and Edith's outdoor clothing with a street gown apiece for the two women. The nurse's hat and coat, I happen to know, are in the hall closet, so if you will get out the things I have named, the room will be entirely clear."

"And soon to be swept and garnished for old Phil Veritzen," Lillian murmured mischievously, then, with a swift glance at my face, which, I knew, mirrored anything but mirth, she spoke with swift, alert co-operation.

"Lead us to the job!" she said, and Katherine nodded her ready assent.

"Just stand here until you hear us moving downstairs — in the next minute or two — " I answered, "then get the things down, and leave them outside my study door. Miss Whitlock evidently doesn't want Ede to get sight of anybody during the trip downstairs — or any other time, for that matter—and Ede especially has asked that you two keep away."

"She has nothing on us," Lillian said caustically. "The further away I keeps from that dame, the better I feels. If I never set eyes on her again, it will be perfectly all right with me."

But Katherine's professional instincts triumphed over her dislike of Edith, and her resentment against her because of me.

"Is she pretty bad?" she asked.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, September 20.

A difficult, disturbing, perhaps distracting day, according to the adverse chain of several planets. However, there are signs offsetting these trials and miseries by meeting all obligations with rigidity, honesty and willingness, then wiping off the slate and getting a fresh start and under very encouraging auspices. But this reorientation should be attempted with poise, not passion, with a view to maintain harmony, in both business and personal readjustments. Placate superiors and elders. Find those of position and financial power ready to promote worthy enterprises.

Those whose birthday it is, by prudence, poise and harmony may convert difficult, harrowing and unhappy circumstances into constructive, expansive and pleasant prospects, with support of elders, superiors, employers or those whose financial promotion and friendship are vital. But meet all obligations cheerfully, before essaying this newer and happier course of action. A very expansive, agreeable and co-operative condition will prevail in all logical and worthy plans for readjustment.

A child born on this day may possess sterling character, with probably many ups-and-downs and challenging adventures to tax and strengthen it.

Opportunities Can Still Be Made

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Not a week passes but I get a letter from some young man wailing that he's found the one and only girl but can't afford to marry because he has no job, or such a poor one that he doesn't dare risk marriage.

To these doubting Thomases, and an equal number of Dicks and Harrys lacking in initiative, please let me mention one name—the late Walter Chrysler. He had not the entire frontier to choose from, like the heroes of those pioneer success stories. Born in Kansas, hardly two generations ago as time is reckoned, he became one of the industrial giants of the expansion period at the beginning of the World war.

He was the son of a locomotive engineer and there was no silver spoon in his mouth when he was born. As a "kid" he took a tremendous interest in the huge driving wheels and the simple old boiler of his father's engine. They inspired him to become a railroad worker.

By 1908 he had successfully borrowed $4,300 and with $700 of his own dime-and-nickel savings, he bought an automobile just to take it apart, put it together again, and learn all its quirks and crotchets. At the time he didn't know how to drive a car, but he took that $5,000 machine apart forty times and put it together again. And four years later he was able to enter the automobile industry as a works manager. He took the job at half the salary he got formerly, because he wanted the experience.

He kept on the up and up until he built the tallest building in the world—the Chrysler Tower, topped only by the Empire State Building. While he directed the policy of many organizations, it was said of him that he could replace any workman in his plant and do as good or a better job himself.

Chrysler's career is a straight answer to people who wail there are no more opportunities in this country. He did not wait for opportunity to seek him out. He went out and sought it.

Boys with a mechanical bent, such as Chrysler had, may be interested to learn that the Navy Yard in Washington has taken on five hundred apprentices. But please do not rush to Washington in the hope of getting one of these jobs, as someone has said it is about as difficult to break into Washington as it is to break into Hollywood.

In your own cities, the National Defense program is training boys. Only trades essential to the defense program are included in these vocational classes, and the worker goes from one phase of the process to another, until he has mastered some special job, such as automotive training, electrical work, aircraft ground mechanics, mill work, welding and die making.

The better plan is to seek your local superintendent of schools and learn what is open to you in the way of instruction.

HOSTESS TO CLUB.

Members of the Ruth-Naomi Bible club were the guests of Mrs. C. L. Allen, 200 Penn avenue, yesterday. There were 12 members and guests present. Mrs. G. L. Cairns, 196 North Benton street, will entertain Oct. 2 at 2 p. m. The group will study the second chapter of Acts at that time.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

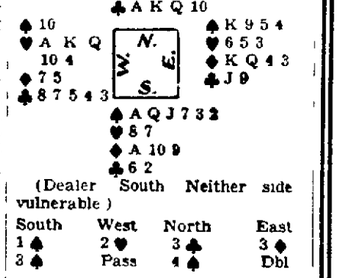
"The Authority on Authorities"

MAKE HIM LEAD TO YOU

Nobody likes to have a declarer hold a "grand coup" position over his trump honor, leading established winners through him toward a trump tenace. Your assignment in such a crisis is to strive your best to throw the lead into the declarer's hand, so that he will have to lead into your holding from his own.



(Dealer South. Neither side vulnerable.)

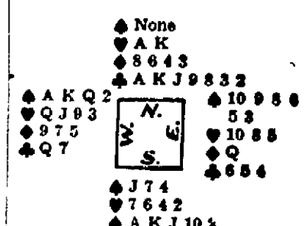
South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♥	3 ♣	3 ♦
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Dbl

North's final bid with only two of his partner's snugly tebid suit was a magnificent expression of confidence in his partner's playing ability, or his opponents' lack of it. Regardless of which, it was richly justified.

South ruffed the third heart, went to dummy with the club A and finessed the spade J. The fall of the 10 made him place East with the rest of the suit. So he went to the club K and followed with the Q. If East had ruffed this, throwing the lead into the South hand, the contract would have been set positively with a trick in trumps and one in diamonds. But East discarded a diamond and so did South.

Next declarer led the spade 8. Carelessly East played the 5, so South played low and let the lead stay in dummy. He then led the club 10. East ruffed that with the 9, but much too late. South overrufted and had the rest of the tricks except for a diamond at the end.

Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable).

If West makes a pschic bid of 1-Club on this hand, what should be the ensuing course of the bidding?

Ohio Enlistment Failure Threatens Draft Increase

STATE SPEEDS REGISTRATION PREPARATIONS

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — Failure of Ohio to furnish its proportionate quota of men to the U. S. armed forces in past years may weigh heavily against the state when state conscription quotas are calculated, advices from Washington disclosed today.

Ohio's deficiency in supply volunteers to existing army and navy forces may add as high as 10,000 men to its normal quota based solely on population.

Army officers here were quick to point out, however, that other important factors likely will offset the potential draft quota increase for the state.

The quota question arose as execution of plans to register on Oct. 16 the state's approximately 806,000 men within the 21-35 years age limit gained momentum.

State Adjutant General Gilson D. Light was notified from Washington that he will be responsible for printing of registration cards, certificates and questionaires, until appointment of a permanent state selective service chief.

It was learned that Governor Bricker will seek an early answer to the question whether General Light, who commands the Ohio national guard, can be retained in state service for possible appointment as the selective service director. General Light and the guard have been called into one-year army training at Camp Shelby, Miss., Beginning Oct. 15.

A state selective service director as well as members of the tentative 338 local three-member draft boards in Ohio will be appointed by President Roosevelt upon recommendation of Governor Bricker and local county judges.

It was learned that each draft board will have one salaried employe—a clerk whose federal pay will average $1,600 a year. All appointments, whether salaried or unsalaried—are to be non-partisan.

Private firms in Ohio will get orders for printing more than 1,000,000 cards and certificates as well as 21 other forms, such as lists of registrants, information placards and instruction leaflets.

Figures from the various service headquarters showed that Ohio is credited with 5,323 men in the navy, 10,192 in the national guard and 502 in the marine corps. Accurate figures on regular army enlistments are not available but volunteer enlistments for the past year credit Ohio with 4,336 which is less than the state's share on a national population basis.

Thus the state's total contribution to the existing forces is about 25,000, a deficiency of some 14,000 on a population basis.

On the same population basis, Ohio will have to provide approximately 20,000 men in the first call for 400,000 conscripts.

Exactly how much of this 14,000 deficiency will be added to the state's 20,000 population quota is undetermined. It conceivably might be added in one lump or it might be spread over succeeding calls.

Offsetting factors are likely to be these: Deferment of the draft for large number of Ohioans because of their employment in essential industries; a high ratio of alien population in the state, and the number of men who will enlist for one year as volunteers.

Not a Member, So Speaker Told to Get Out of Lodge

CLEVELAND —(NS)— All this policeman was doing was minding his own business, but look what happened.

Detective Lloyd B. Trunk, chief supervisor of ballistics at Central police station, was asked to speak on "scientific crime protection" at a lodge meeting last night. Arriving while a closed meeting was in progress, he waited in an anteroom.

After 40 minutes he asked a member what time the speaking program was scheduled. He was asked, sharply, if he wasn't a member, "what are you snooping around for?"

School District's Residents Plan Intensive Campaign To Obtain Passage.

The Madison township board of education today asked the county board of elections to approve a vote Nov. 5 on a $290,000 bond issue to finance a school building program.

The request is the only one seeking a bond issue vote in the county this fall, election board officials said. Notices of special issues to be submitted in November must be filed with the election board by Friday night.

Approval of the state tax commission of the bond issue vote has already been received.

The bond issue would finance the construction of a six-room building at Woodville, an eight-room building in Lincoln Heights, a 12-room addition at the Madison Township high school, and improvements at the East Mansfield school.

Growth of the Mansfield suburban districts which are included in the Madison township district and the merging of other rural districts with Madison township make it necessary to provide more building space, school officials said.

65 Per Cent Majority.

It will require 65 per cent of the total vote cast in the Madison township district in November to approve the bond issue.

Madison township school officials and teachers and parents favoring the bond issue plan to launch a thorough campaign in its behalf within the next few days, using the Mansfield school bond issue campaign of two years ago as an example.

Voters in the Mansfield city school district will not be required to ballot on the bond issue or to pay the bond levy if it passes. The Madison district includes the township outside Mansfield and a section of Washington township south of the city.

CONDUCT PROBE

D. O. J. Agents Investigate Michigan Officials.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Justice department agents are investigating charge of corruption and fraud among Michigan state officials and may ask for federal grand jury indictments against as many as 50 of them, a justice department spokesman said today.

The investigation is being conducted by O. John Rogge, head of the criminal division of the justice department. The charges being investigated include income tax evasion and use of the mails to defraud.

Evidence already has been presented to state and federal grand juries.

PACKING FIRM STRIKE ENDED

Columbus Plant Busy Again After 15 Days' Shutdown.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—A 15-day strike which has kept 550 employes of the Columbus Packing company plant idle for 15 days ended at midnight after a five-hour discussion.

A. L. Leonard, general manager and Eugene Roth of Cleveland, state president of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen, said the strike had been "satisfactorily settled" and that "wage adjustments" would be discussed soon. The union had asked wage increases.

Up and Down THE STREET

Not to be out done by the men he has been tutoring in practical police pistol shooting over a regulation FBI course, Police Chief Meade K. Bates yesterday set the pace for officers of the police department shooting in weekly matches at the Ontario range by firing 50 rounds from his service revolver to score a 97.2. He matched the course record set last week by Patrolman Paul J. Martin. No mean feat, anyone who knows will tell you, because it includes shooting from the hip, from a prone position, a sitting position and from behind a barricade over a 60-yard course.

A knife belonging to Mrs. George Fox, 79 Sherman avenue, has become something of a traveler in efforts to get it back to its owner, but so far she hasn't caught up with it. Mrs. Fox left the table knife at a choir picnic last May. One choir member had it in his possession for weeks, carrying it down to his place of business twice, expecting Mrs. Fox to call for it. Then it was given to another member to deliver, and then to another. Each time the owner called for it, the knife had been turned over to some one else to deliver. Now Mary Troll Anglin has it and there probably will have to be another picnic before it finds its rightful owner.

Thirty seven boys of the Richland County Children's home were rewarded last night for their work in the school flower gardens this year when they were entertained at a hamburg fry at the home of Mrs. S. Glenn Vinson, Glenleigh farm. The boys were transported in private cars, were fed all the hamburgers and other picnic favorites they could eat and then were turned loose to play with the colts and other pets about the farm. The boys had worked very hard in the annual school garden contests.

Police today were cursing a big, thoroughbred collie for being the cagiest canine ever to elude the arm of the law. About a week ago a bellhop at the Mansfield-Leland was taking a Chicago guest's dog for a walk, when suddenly the dog bolted and headed west, presumably for his home in Chicago. The dog apparently changed his mind about the trip because he has been seen by residents in the west end. Police, however, have failed to find him. It was reported today that the dog owner is coming back to Mansfield this week to join in the chase.

PARENTS' NIGHT

More than 90 parents are expected to attend the American Legion Boy Scout troop's third annual "Parents' Night" dinner at 6:30 p. m. today in the American Legion hall.

Reports of the various committees within the troop and presentation of the 1940-41 program by Scoutmaster Fred E. Elder will highlight the meeting.

Senior Patrol Leader Joe Hewston is in charge of the arrangements. J. G. Blahnik, E. Roy Jenkins, R. M. James, H. D. Bishop, P. C. Davis, P. B. Pecht, and L. H. Bachrach comprise the troop committee.

ANOTHER O. S. R. FUGITIVE HELD

Third to Scale Wall 3 Weeks Ago Arrested, Turned Over to Holmes Authorities.

The third of four men who went over the wall at Ohio State reformatory about three weeks ago was in custody today and expected to be arraigned at Millersburg on charges of breaking and entering. He is Arthur Steen, 20.

Arrested by Monroe county authorities at Woodsfield, yesterday, nine days after he is charged with having participated in an attempted robbery of the Sunshine Feed store at Millersburg, Steen was turned over last night to Holmes county Sheriff Harry Weiss.

Weiss said Steen promptly admitted being with Ernest Hartman, 22, and Walter Splitt, 20, two other O. S. R. fugitives, early on the morning of August 31 when the youths were surprised by Weiss in the feed store.

Hartman and Splitt who are now being held to the Holmes county grand jury, which convenes Sept. 23, are charged with breaking and entering and theft of an auto in which they fled from the feed store.

The Holmes county sheriff said Steen revealed he left the store on foot and walked to Holmesville. He is also charged with breaking and entering the Leroy Miller filling station at Holmesville and with taking a raincoat, $3 in cash and cigarets.

Steen told the sheriff he had been visiting with relatives until his capture yesterday.

CONTRACTORS TO ATTEND PARLEY

Representatives of Heating Firms To Go To Cleveland Meeting.

Heating contractors from the Cleveland area, which includes Mansfield, will attend a dealer meeting in Cleveland Tuesday to consider a program of activities during the coming months, according to F. J. Wilkey, manager of the Crane company branch, Cleveland.

A two-part slide film entitled, "The Heat's On" and "It's Up to You," will be shown in addition to demonstrations and talks on the latest developments in heating and air conditioning equipment. The new gas boilers will be introduced and a selling program will be discussed.

COUNTY JUDGES PREPARING TO ORGANIZE DRAFT COMMITTEE

Preparations were under way in Mansfield today to set up the county's conscription machinery to handle the registration of an estimated 10,500 men on Oct. 16.

Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston and Probate Judge C. J. Anderson, who will form the nucleus of the county draft committee, said today they will meet soon and select a third member of the committee.

Judge Huston said he had a man "in mind" for the post, but he declined to say who it is until he confers with Judge Anderson.

After receiving instructions from the state director of selective service, yet to be named, the three-member committee will select a county draft board to have charge of the registration of men between 21 and 35 and classifying and inducting the county's draftees into the army.

Judge Huston praised Adj. Gen. Gilson D. Light who has been mentioned by Gov. John W. Bricker as the probable Ohio director of selective service.

"I served in the army during the World war with Gen. Light and I know he is a capable officer. His selection would be a good one," Judge Huston said.

TEN EXPELLED

Jehovah's Witnesses Kept From Attending School.

YOUNGSTOWN —(AP)— Expulsion by the Liberty township school board for their refusal to salute the American flag kept 10 pupils—members of Jehovah's Witnesses, a religious sect—from attending classes today.

The board acted last night after separate conferences with the students and their parents.

School Supt. E. J. Blott, who suspended the children last Monday pending board action, said the pupils told the board they would continue refusing to salute if they were re-admitted.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Tales From Times Square.

Jimmy Monks, the actor, whose brother Johnny co-authored "Brother Rat," was amusing a Stork club conclave with a relayed experience of Fred Finklehoffe, the other half of the collaboration. It seems that during the gloomy days just before France surrendered to the German blitzkrieg, Finklehoffe, walked into the publicity office at M. G. M. and was greeted by a publicity man with doleful countenance. "Isn't it awful?" the p. a. asked.

"It certainly is," sighed Finklehoffe.

"Why, it's terrible," the press agent reiterated. "Do you know, Mickey Rooney hasn't grown an inch in three years!"

At the American Theater Wing party at the Berkshire the other evening Benny Baker entertained the ringsiders with the tale of a fellow who loved to waltz. He got mixed up in a strange gathering one night and found that he had asked a girl to dance who had a wooden leg.

They whirled and whirled around the floor, and as they whirled he noticed that the girl who was his partner seemed to grow taller and taller each time they went around.

When they started, she had been about five feet two, but by the time they'd been twice around the dance floor she was at least six feet three.

"I beg your pardon," the puzzled dance fiend said, "but you seem to be getting taller."

"I know," said the girl. "You're turning me the wrong way!"

Like most performers, Eddy Duchin is usually pretty doubtful about invitations to parties given by strangers in the social set, because he can never tell whether he is being asked for his charm or the fact that when he hits a piano music comes out. Only the other day he received a telephone call from a Park Avenue matron who wanted him—so terribly much—to drop over for her soiree.

"You know," alibied Eddy, "I won't be able to play the piano, I jammed a finger in a car door.

There was one of those dead silences on the other end of the phone, then finally an audible sigh.

"Oh, well," said the matron, "why not come anyway?"

Rosalind Russell, in from Hollywood, brought with her the gag about the two pals who were playing golf on a Beverly Hills course one morning when a harried fellow rushed up to their tee and poised his driver. He wore an apologetic expression and he breathlessly begged:

"Do you gentlemen mind if I play through you? I've just got a message that my wife is critically ill!"

Larry Hart was telling a group the story of the 14th street clothier who was boasting about business.

"We're doing terrific," the haberdasher bragged, "and we lose $4.25 on every suit we sell."

"But," a friend wanted to know, "how do you overcome the loss?"

"It's simple," beamed the clothier, sunningly. "We juggle the books!"

Ethel Merman had her listeners chuckling over this tale of feline hauteur. A composer, writhed at his piano for half a day trying to master an evasive tune. Finally he slumped away in despair and dropped into a chair to sulk. As he moaned, his pet kitten bounded into the room, vaulted to the keyboard, and pranced over the keys.

"That's it," shouted the startled composer. "That's it! Now do it again—it's just what I wanted."

He dashed back to the piano and brushed the kitten away from the keyboard. As the little four-footed fellow slipped down, he played another cadenza on the ivories.

The kitten gave him an even icier stare.

"What do you expect?" barked the kitty. "You pushed me!"

The latest (or maybe the oldest) Sam Goldwyn gag was making the rounds at Spivy's. It was the tale of the time Sam got scorching mad at a rival producer and decided to write the fellow a nasty note.

He summoned his secretary and dictated a sizzling letter, calling the villain every nasty name he could recall, and he could recall plenty. At the end, carried away with his magnificent anger, he barked to the girl: 'If this bum doesn't like what I'm saying to him, he knows what he can do!"

"How shall I sign the letter?" the stenographer asked timidly.

"Sign it?" yelped Sam. "Sign it 'Anonymous'"!

Milton Berle had a tableful at Lindy's in hysterics over the story of a colored girl who was arrested in a raid on a night club with a bad reputation, and taken before a judge. "What were you doing in that place?" the judge asked her.

"I was knittin', judge," the girl replied.

"Now don't give me that nonsense," his honor rapped. "What were you doing there?"

The dusky maiden shrugged. "Judge," she said, "I was jest knittin'."

The jurist grew impatient. "If you don't admit what you were doing in that night club, I'll put you in jail," he threatened.

The girl gleamed up at him. "Okay, judge, but this'll kill you," she chuckled. "Ah was a white slave!"

WRONG METER

Motorist Finally Finds Out Reason For Tickets.

KANSAS CITY—(AP)—A motorist wondered why he kept getting traffic tickets even though he conscientiously dropped his nickel in parking meters.

Police Lieut. Barney Mahoney discovered the answer, the motorist was dropping his nickel in meters in back of his car instead of in front, where it belonged.

Tyger Mentor Seeks Speed For Backfield

Doolittle Takes Lantz's Place; Brandt or Templeton to Hold Down Berth.

By CHARLES MARTIN, News-Journal Sports Editor.

And the Mansfield Tyger mentor is leaving nothing undone in an effort to have his fastest leather luggers in the lineup when his proteges tackle Cambridge at 8 p. m. Friday at Stadium field. Already he has made one backfield change he hopes will take care of some of the costly mistakes the Tygers made in edging Akron West, 14-13, last week.

Bob Lantz, who held down the blocking post in the backfield last week has been sent into the forward wall to replace John Weber, a first-year man.

In Lantz's place will be Bill Doolittle, promising junior, and to round out the backfield Snyder will use either Adam Brandt or Jim Templeton.

With Brandt, Martin Henke and Elbert "Lighting" Jones in the starting lineup Snyder has three of the best ball handlers on the squad. All are capable of dashing for touchdowns from any place on the field. Henke and Brandt can also divide the punting and passing duties.

Lantz

Snyder is banking on speed to turn back the Cambridge Brownies. The invaders, who dropped a 32 to 7 decision to Parkersburg, W. Va., last week, possesses a large team, but are reported to be slow.

While Snyder is concentrating on speed he is not leaving the blocking assignments drift by. Every lad on the team is receiving instructions on blocking and pass defense. Both these weaknesses cropped up in the Akron West tussle.

Doolittle

Lantz is expected to aid in breaking up pass plays before they can get started. He is a veteran and Snyder thinks he will be valuable in the line. The center post, with Lantz in the line, will be flanked by veterans. Ed Kinkle holds down the other guard berth.

Snyder is also working on defensive plays to halt Cambridge's 170-pound fullback. Frank Collert. He is noted for his powerful line plunges and the Mansfield coach thinks he can overcome that advantage if his charges show speed in breaking through the line.

Mansfield will enter the contest a slight favorite, but unless the Tygers have corrected numerous flaws they will be in for a battle.

PARKING SPACE AVAILABLE

Free parking space is available for Mansfield Tyger fans directly behind the new practice field west of the Stadium, Senior high officials announced today.

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Knowing New Yorkers are using the Polo grounds these days as sanctuary from the noise, the bustle, the excitement, and the general wear and tear on the nerves that life in the world's biggest city exacts.

There on the banks of the placid Harlem river, 'neath the lee of Coogan's bluff, a man can find more peace and quiet than he can in a nook of the library, or under a tree in Central park, or worshipping the old masters in the art museum.

* * *

The fact that the New York Giants are playing in the Polo grounds right now doesn't disturb the calm and rest of the uptown retreat. The Giants are deep in sixth place, loser in their last ten games, and completely out of the fight, even for a place in the first division.

It was like walking into another world to visit the Polo grounds yesterday for the game between the Giants and the Cubs. Outside the grounds New York City thundered and roared, but inside bees droned lazily over the infield, ushers dozed in their seats, the vendors hawked their wares in whispers lest they disturb the players. Spiders, meanwhile, spun gaudy webs on the gatekeepers' turnstiles.

A crowd of 1,200 on Monday came to see the Giants, only 1,900 the next day, and a handful of 1,588 yesterday. A fellow could draw more than that by dropping a quarter at Times Square.

The only spark of life shown by the Giants, as they went through the motions of playing out the 1940 string, was shown by a rookie, Buster Maynard, fresh up from Richmond. Buster, who is hoping to earn an outfield job next season, played as if he were in a world series.

* * *

When it was his turn to bat he strode from the dugout swinging his clubs in a mighty arc, and dug in at the plate as if a hit meant the championship of the world. Even from deep centerfield you could hear his cry of encouragement to his teammates, and he ran the bases with the determination of a young Cobb.

Madison Rams Work Hard for Tilt Against New London Friday Night

SMARTING from the 38 to 7 beating suffered at Wooster last week, the Madison high Rams are anxious to even their season record against New London under the lights at 8 p. m. Friday at Madison field.

Mentor Al Fendrick is not planning many changes in the starting lineup for he believes the mistakes the lads made in the Wooster defeat will prove valuable Friday.

In New London the Rams face a dangerous opponent. The Wildcats, in the opening game last week, trounced the Mansfield Junior Varsity, 25 to 0, at New London.

The Rams starting eleven is not rangy and Fendrick is encountering trouble in setting up an adequate pass defense. Against Wooster, the smaller Madison players had to try and knock aerials out of the hands of six-foot ends. Wooster scored three of its touchdowns on passes.

Among the starters Friday night will be John Chuckaloff and Gene Batson, guards. Both were impressive in the Wooster game and Fendrick is banking on them to develop into top-ranking players.

In a preliminary game, the East Mansfield Junior high gridders will tangle with the Lincoln Heights Junior high club. The tilt will get under way at 6:30 p. m. Fendrick stated today.

Phillipon Scores 621 In Bowling League

Playing with the Engineering team in the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company "A" bowling league, Carl hit the maples at a sensational 621 clip to walk off with the honors.

Crashing through with a 188 total in the opening game, Carl reached the 196 mark in the middle affair and soared to a nifty 237 in the final game. He led his club to two wins over the Rate team.

Bill Warren of the Refrigeration club followed Phillipon in 600, while Jack Hanrahan was next by virtue of his 594.

HEROES—Bob Feller, Indians, who after two days rest returned to hurl a five-hitter and pitch Cleveland back into first place. Johnny Vander Meer, Reds, who after being recently recalled from the minors pitched 12 innings of Cincinnati National league pennant-clinching thirteen inning struggle with Philadelphia to receive credit for the payoff victory.

GOATS — Johnny Gorsica, Tigers, who blew up in the ninth inning of the nightcap when Philadelphia staged a nine-run rally to knock Detroit off the top; Hal Schumacher, Giants, who was charged with New York's tenth consecutive loss.

Cleveland Turns Back Nationals In Twin Bill

Johnny Halts Washington, 3-1; Bobby Marks Up 2-1 Triumph In Nightcap.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Wily Oscar Vitt, the Indians' pilot, successfully met strategy with strategy, so the Tribe stands at the top of the American league again today.

After Johnny Allen outpitched the awesome Ken Chase for a 3 to 1 victory in the opener of yesterday's doubleheader with the Washington Senators, Vitt pulled a surprise by sending Bob Feller to oppose Sid Hudson in the nightcap. And Feller, aided by the super-fielding of Roy Weatherly and Lou Boudreau, turned back the Nats 2 to 1.

The bargain bill was an air-tight exhibition with a veteran and a youngster sharing the glory.

Called into service after only two days of rest, Feller yielded five hits in posting his 26th victory of the season and struck out seven men to bring his total for the season to 301—four more than his total for 1939.

Tiring perceptibly in the last part of the nightcap, Feller shut out the Nats until the eighth inning. With Cleveland leading 2 to 0, Jimmy Pofahl singled in that frame. Rick Ferrell and George Case walked, and Pofahl scored Washington's lone tally on Buddy Lewis' fly.

Earlier, Weatherly staved off a Washington scoring threat with a sensational catch. With two men on base, Lewis drove a liner to center that looked like a hit, but Little Stormy went up in the air, somersaulted, and came up with the ball.

And it was Weatherly who tallied the Indians' first run with a sixth-inning homer. In the seventh, Ray Mack's deep fly went for a two-bagger as Outfielder Gerald Walker misjudged it. The Tribe's second baseman took third on Rollie Hemsley's grounder and scored on Feller's single. Cleveland collected nine safe blows in all off the hapless Hudson.

Chase, often a nemesis for the Tribe, lost control in the second, issuing four bases on balls to force in all three of Cleveland's runs.

Beau Bell started the inning with a single and took second on Ken Keltner's infield out. Mack walked and Frankie Pytlak singled, filling the bases. Then came two walks in a row, Allen forcing

"It'll Be a Dog Fight," Joe McCarthy

CHICAGO—(INS)—"Looks like Detroit . . . great ball club. Detroit . . . Cleveland has a great pitcher . . . what a team needs to win a pennant . . . may be a dogfight right down to the last game between those two . . . what a race."

Marse Joe McCarthy was talking . . . seated on the Yankee bench yesterday before the twin bill started . . . solemnly, a sad expression in his eyes, like a man who had been through the battle of Dunkerque or just escaped from a building shattered by a bomb.

"You know," said Marse Joe, who won four straight pennants and world's series for New York, setting an all-time record, "they talk about luck, good and bad. But do you know the club that should win this pennant this year? Don't answer. I'll tell you. Chicago. If they had had Monte Stratton and Jackie Hayes this year they would be in front by ten games. They'd have breezed in, pulled up, sure as you're born.

"Tough those boys had accidents. Just beat your town out of a crack at Cincinnati in the world's series. What a series that would have been. Just think. Same club the Black Sox tossed a championship to and wouldn't this fine, smart, alert ball club like a crack at those Reds in an honest series and you know all of them have been honest except the one 21 years ago. . . ."

Cincinnati Clinches National League Pennant

Reds Beat Phils

Vander Meer Turns Trick: Cardinals Aid By Beating Dodgers.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(AP Sports Writer.)

WHILE the American league has been muddling around for two weeks like so many rabbits in a pen, the Cincinnati Reds have copped their second straight National league pennant with an impressive display of decision and dispatch

Their 4-3 triumph in 13 innings over the Phillies yesterday was their 16th victory in 18 games. A blistering finish, that may have an important bearing on the world series.

The American league is still locked in a death struggle. The Cleveland Indians were so desperate yesterday they called out Bobby Feller with two days' rest to face the seventh-place Washington Senators. The strategy worked, and the Tribe triumphed in both ends of a doubleheader, 3-1 and 2-1, to regain first place But it might boomerang when the Indians open a three-game series with Detroit tomorrow.

The Philadelphia Athletics, the same tag-alongs who knocked Cleveland off the top perch Tuesday, scored nine runs in the ninth inning of the second game of their double bill at Detroit yesterday to get a split and force the Tigers out of the lead With the New York Yankees and Chicago White Sox dividing their double feature, the standings are.

Cleveland	84	61	.579	..	9
Detroit ..	83	61	576	½	10
New York	79	64	552	4	11
Chicago .	79	66	545	5	9

The honor of cinching the National league flag fell to Johnny Vander Meer, as a bit of added drama. The no-hit king showed signs of his old self as he kept eight hits scattered and struck out ten Then, in the 13th, he led off with a double and scored the winning run

The St Louis Cardinals, of all clubs, gave the Reds an assist by crushing the Brooklyn Dodgers, 14-7, with a 17-hit bombardment that included four singles by Johnny Mize good for six runs.

In the two other National league games, Jim Tobin held his old Pirate teammates to five hits as the Boston Bees beat Pittsburgh, 4-1, and Stan Hack hit two homers and a single to help the Chicago Cubs hand the New York Giants their tenth straight setback, 6-4.

The tragedy of the Tigers was that they won their first game from the A's, 14-0, and weren't able to save any of this margin for the second session. In the first game, Tommy Bridges went so well he was pulled out in the seventh to rest for Cleveland. Hank Greenberg hit two homers, one with the bases loaded. Then, in the nightcap, Detroit got a 6-4 lead on homers by Greenberg and Rudy York and collapsed in the ninth, giving nine runs. Bob Johnson hit a three-run homer in this frame. Benny McCoy had done the same in the fourth.

Chicago came close to passing the Yanks into third place, and 37,000 ardent southsiders were present for the kill. Lefty Thornton Lee pitched six-hit ball as the Sox won the first game, 6-3. In the second game, the Yanks led off with four runs in the first, but Chicago came right back with five and added three more in the fourth.

* * *

Then Twink Selink homered with two on in the seventh; the Yanks got two more in the eighth, and darkness closed the show before Chicago could do anything about it.

The St. Louis Browns spoiled the Boston Red Sox, 11-2, with a 14-hit offensive.

Giants, Orioles Need Pitching

(By Associated Press)

The Jersey City Giants and Baltimore Orioles, each badly needing a victory to keep in the running in the preliminary round of the Governors' Cup playoffs, will have the advantage playing on home grounds tonight when they square off against the Newark Bears and Rochester Red Wings in the third game of the best-of-seven series.

* * *

The Little Giants and Orioles each dropped the first two games at Newark and Rochester respectively and if defeated tonight their chances of advancing to the final round will be slim.

George Washburn, lanky right hander, pitched the Bears to a 3-1 victory over the J's last night, while Mike Ryba hurled six-hit ball to give the Red Wings a 4-1 triumph over Baltimore.

DICK WEST MARRIES

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Dick West, Cincinnati Reds catcher, was married to Miss Doris Neal 22, at Elizabethtown, Ky., two weeks ago, her mother Mrs. E R Fleming, said yesterday.

Seven Grid Games on Tap For Football Fans This Week

By BOB FLOHR

FOOTBALL fans in Mansfield and nearby towns will find plenty of action on hand for them tomorrow as the 1940 grid season swings into its second week of play with at least seven contests to be played near here.

* * *

Two of the top contests on the Friday grid bill will be played in nearby Bellville and Galion. For Mansfielders there will be the Mansfield-Cambridge contest at 8 p. m. tomorrow at [illegible] dium Field.

The Bellville high Bluejays will attempt to make it two in a row for their new coach L. C. Lindsay when they meet a strong Granville team at Bellville tomorrow afternoon The Bluejays opened their 1940 season last Friday with a 7 to 6 triumph over LaRue.

Crestline will lay its 10-game winning streak on the block when the Onondagas travel to Galion tomorrow night to meet the Galion high Orangemen of the North Central Ohio league under the lights in a non-conference tilt. Crestline extended its winning streak to nine games last week by defeating Mt. Gilead 12 to 0

The annual act of the Query brothers will be staged under the floodlights at Shelby tomorrow night when Shelby entertains Willard high in a non-conference game Bill Query coaches the Shelby Whippets and his brother Dave is grid coach at the Willard school Both teams opened their season with wins last week.

Butler high school's squad will return to the grid wars tomorrow when they invade Centerburg for an afternoon contest. Coach Bob Burgett will send his Butler team against Centerburg and will be out after the first victory in two years.

* * *

Other non-league contests tomorrow will find New London meeting Madison's Rams for a night game at Madison Mansfield Junior varsity at Canton Jones junior high tomorrow afternoon Norwalk at Ashland in a night game; Danville at Loudonville in a night contest.

Service Rifles In Use Today

CAMP PERRY — (AP) — Service rifles in the hands of expert 10-man teams were aimed at distant targets today in 600 and 1,000-yard events of the national rifle matches

Service men competed for a silver trophy presented by Queen Marie of Rumania to an A. E. F. rifle team in Le Mans, France, in 1919, while civilians shot for a silver punch bowl presented in 1910 by Brig. Gen. Frank M. Rumbold of St. Louis.

Shooting over the 200 and 200-yard stages yesterday, the infantry's 10-man team scored 1417 of 1500 to nose out the marines by a single point

In the non-service division the American Legion blue squad hit the targets for 1372 of 1500 five points better than the Pennsylvania civilians.

Findlay Evens Playoff Series

LIMA (AP) - Findlay's Oilers, underdogs in the Ohio State league playoff series, face the Champion Lima Pandas tonight with a rightful claim for added respect.

A decisive 7 to 3 victory by Findlay last night squared the series at two games each. The Oilers rapped out ten hits while Don May checked the Pandas with four.

The visitors led from the third inning and shelled Al Broskey from the mound in the seventh after nicking him for eight hits, including a homer over the scoreboard by Outfielder Mazgay in the fifth Carver to Hurl For Cabs In Initial Game Against Wemcos.

TWO of Mansfield's top ranking softball aggregations will meet this evening at Liberty park in the first of a three-game benefit series that will end with a doubleheader Sunday afternoon.

Meeting in the series will be the fast stepping Wemco combine, Y. M. C. A. Independent league champions, and the Safety Cab club.

This series has been planned for the benefit of Gene Yarman third baseman for the Safety Cab combine who has been ill. Tonight's contest is scheduled to begin at 5 30.

The Wemco team last week-end, representing the Mansfield Westinghouse plant, defeated a Sharon, Pa., nine 15 to 2 to cop the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company Zone No. 1 softball tournament. The Wemcos have lost only one game this season.

These games will serve as a tune-up series for the Wemcos who will represent the Mansfield Westinghouse plant in the national Westinghouse softball tournament at Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 28.

Facing the Wemcos in today's game will be Freddie Carver, ace Safety Cab pitcher, who has been named to work on the mound.

* * *

Johnny Hallabrin, fullback on the Ohio State football squad, who played center field for the Cabs during the summer, will return Sunday to play in the series final.

* * *

Time for Sunday's games will be announced Saturday.

CHURCH GUEST

GALION—Rev. Charles Wilford Sheerin, D. D., second vice president of the National Council of the Episcopal church since April 27, 1938, will be a guest at Grace Episcopal church this Sunday. He will celebrate Holy Communion and preach at the service beginning at 9 o'clock Sunday morning.

LEW JENKINS TO DEFEND LIGHTWEIGHT CROWN

NEW YORK—(INS)—Lew Jenkins, of Texas, will defend his lightweight crown in Madison Square Garden on Nov. 22 Promoter Mike Jacobs announced today. His opponent will be the survivor of fighting between Pete Lello, Irving Eldridge and Dave Castilloux, according to Jacobs.

DEAR FOLKS:

People who buy tires from us know they don't have to wait for some holiday to roll around to get a tire bargain.

They get top values in tire bargains with us three hundred and sixty-five days a year.

That's why we are known as "The Best Place in Town to Buy Tires!"

To keep it that way we have taken on Fisk tires.

We did this for two reasons: one—Fisk's outstanding quality, as proved by a 40-year record will enable us to give super tire values: two—it provides our customers with a price range, meeting every need and represents, in our opinion, the best tire buys to be found in this broad land of ours.

For safety—skid protection such as you never dreamed possible—we have for you the No. 1 Safety tire of America—Fisk Safti-Flight. Come in and have us show you what those white gum inserts in the tread mean to you in safety and luxurious driving comfort. Safti-Flight is made with Anti-Friction cotton cord or Super Rayon

At lower prices are the equally famous, long wearing safe, Air-Flight, Windsor and Rugged. All are absolutely guaranteed by the makers and by us.

You know what you want to pay for tires. Come in and tell us—we'll meet you and go you one better with greater mileage and safety values than you ever had before.

For safety's sake, for economy's sake—re-tire now with Fisk . . . Get a set and put your fall and winter tire troubles in the discard.

Reds Sure They'll Cop World Series

By TED MEIER

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The champions of the national league—the Cincinnati Reds—don't care what team wins the American league pennant, but General Manager Warren Giles hopes it's Detroit.

Giles watched his club clinch their second straight flag by coming from behind yesterday to beat the Phillies, 4 to 3, in 13 innings as Brooklyn lost to St. Louis.

"We'd probably draw more in dollars and cents if we played Cleveland," Giles said. "But on the other hand we might not. There might be 80,000 in the Cleveland stadium one day and then drop off. Then that dissension sort of takes the bang out of it.

"In spite of what a lot of people might think, ball clubs consider more things than money. I don't care who wins the American league pennant—we'll beat whoever it is—but I think we'd do better with Detroit than any other team."

The Reds whooped it up in their dressing room after Southpaw Johnny Vander Meer scored the winning run in the 13th, but the big celebration was reserved for tonight. The boys want Paul Derringer to win his 20th game against the Phils today.

* * *

"We'll celebrate tonight," explained Manager Deacon Bill McKechnie. 'We have a day off tomorrow. Today we play ball. The boys deserve a celebration."

Still Going

Here is a new photo of Jimmy Wilson, the Cincinnati Reds' coach who still dons the mask and takes a turn behind the plate when needed.

Pat Comisky, the Paterson, N. J., heavyweight hope, appears to be loaded for Baer here. Yes, he's loaded for Maxie Baer, former heavy champ, whom he meets Sept. 26, in Jersey City, N. J., in an important bout.

PARKMEN PRACTICE

Manager Joe Frisch will send his Liberty park baseball team through a practice at 5:30 p. m. Friday in preparation for the club's tilt with Little Sandusky at Liberty park at 2 p. m. Sunday.

Massillon Goes After Its 25th Gridiron Triumph

COLUMBUS—(NS)—The mighty juggernaut from Massillon high school—termed just an "ordinary team this year" prior to last week's 64-0 win over Cathedral Latin—will go after its 25th consecutive victory Friday against Weirton, W. Va., high's steelers. Another 18,000 persons are expected to watch the Massillon maulers cleanup the gridiron with their out-of-state foes.

* * *

The lone weakness which cropped out in the Massillon attack last week was the failure to kick points after touchdowns. The Tigers made but three out of eleven—but then they were probably too tired from running the leather across the goal line.

Canton McKinley, probably the state's number one and a half or two team—the Bulldogs aren't far behind the Massillonites — goes against Akron South in another Friday night headliner. The Canton eleven poured over Cleveland Lincoln, 57-0 last week to serve warning on their traditional rivals that the season's finale for both teams is going to be the playoff for the state title.

* * *

Up north, the Toledo Waite Indians, fresh from a 31-7 win over Chicago Lindbloom in their opener, will go after Youngstown Rayen's scalp in the Toledo spotlight game. The Indians should come up to the November 1 game against Massillon without a blemish.

* * *

In another important engagement tomorrow night, Zanesville dedicates its new stadium with New Philadelphia's Quakers furnishing the opposition. The Zanesville team defeated Chillicothe, 6-3 last week while the New Philly winning streak of nine straight was busted by Akron Garfield, 7-0.

IOWA HAS HUGE GUARD WEIGHING 290 POUNDS

IOWA CITY, Ia.—(NS)—By special permision of the Big Ten powers, the University of Iowa will trot out the biggest footballer in the conference this year, and from the behemoth's work up to today he is going to make his mark.

The behemoth is Henry Luebcke, a guard who tips the scales at an even 290 and judging by his brief appearances in the last three seasons, who knows how to throw his weight around.

Columbus, Kansas City Win In Association Playoff

(By Associated Press)

American Association baseball rivals for the Shaughnessy playoff title today were exactly where they started two days ago—all even.

The leaders at the end of the pennant fight—first place Kansas City and second place Columbus—each won last night, thus squaring the preliminary series at one game apiece.

Two Kansas City homers accounted for four runs and a 6 to 2 victory over Minneapolis. Frank Melton of Columbus stopped Louisville, 5 to 2, with a six-hit performance.

Tonight the scene of one battle shifts from Kansas City to Minneapolis, where the first and third place teams resume their series. Columbus and Louisville, however, will be idle, their third game being scheduled for Friday night at Louisville.

Kansas City and Minneapolis each collected eight hits last night, but the Blues' homers supplied the margin in runs. Phil Rizzuto got one in the first inning. Then, with the Blues leading 3-2 in the eighth, Johnny Riddle clinched matters with a three-run circuit smash.

* * *

Columbus, too only got eight hits, but made them good for 16 bases. Two hit batsmen started off the Red Birds to three runs in the second inning.

Just Another Day for Reds Fans as Cincy Takes Title

By JOHN FRYE

CINCINNATI—(AP)—A year ago next week, the followers of the national sport in this town were whooping themselves hoarse, kissing perfect strangers doing handsprings across the suspension bridge, and acting in general as if somebody had just gone the length of Fifth street tossing negotiable bonds out of a barrel.

* * *

Today there is a strange calm, as dead as the geometric center of a vacuum, spread over the Queen city. Solid citizens are going about their beer and skittles as if nothing had happened.

Last year the Reds won their first pennant in 20 years and this year they're a game second in 21. But to all the excitement would think the Red Sox were New Yorkers who have pennants a-plenty instead of the other for a good part of those two decades.

A downtown tour of the bar rooms where the wild fun is accustomed to await the news of the Reds' clinch of the flag had disclosed the pennant yesterday that life was going on in its usual grooves.

Money was bet and lost, of course, on the outcome of that 13 inning battle in Philadelphia but more on the outcome of something from the flip of a bottle cap to a race a thousand mile away between a couple of platers nobody ever heard of.

The real issue is something beyond control—"who is to be the opposition in the world series which we are going to win?"

Here the betting Cincinnatian is over his depth. All he knows about the American league is what he hears from some friend who had nothing better to do on a trip than take in an American league game.

* * *

So until that matter is settled, nobody's getting up a head of steam. But if the Reds bring home that world championship, hold your hats!

CAROL, LUPESCU FACE CONSTANT THREAT IN EXILE

Romance Began When 'Redhead' Threw Bouquet Into Car of Youthful Prince.

(Editor's note: Out of the dramatic developments of the European war, comes the story of King Carol, II, driven from the Rumanian throne and fleeing into exile with Magda Lupescu, the woman for whom he renounced his rights to the crown while still a prince and who returned to the country after he had seized the kingship from his son in 1930. This is the first of three articles to appear in The News-Journal. The second will appear tomorrow.)

By ROGER D. GREENE

NEW YORK—(AP)—Driven into exile, shorn of part of his great wealth, ex-King Carol II of Rumania and his flame-tressed companion, Magda Lupescu, live today under constant threat of assassination as they begin a new chapter in their love idyll.

A blast of Iron Guardists' bullets sped their flight from Rumania.

Always, wherever they go, the shadow of danger will be there. . .

Spiced with Graustarkian intrigue, bloodshed, fantastic plots and counter-plots — all woven around the figure of a money-lender's daughter—the romance that has made world headlines for 15 years first blazed into the open, appropriately enough, with the champagne fillip of a New Year's Eve mystery.

Vanished In Paris.

It was on Dec. 31, 1925, that the handsome young Crown Prince Carol "disappeared" in Paris — simply vanished from the train that bore him homeward to Bucharest from London, where he had marched dutifully in the funeral procession of Britain's Dowager Queen Alexandria, widow of King Edward VII.

One moment he was glancing darkly out the snow-flecked window while the train chuffed in the station. The next, he was gone.

And for five years thereafter, Carol never set foot on Rumanian soil.

Today, as then, it is the copper-headed woman who has won out in the Amazonian battle of four women who sought to rule Carol —Marie, "Zizi," Helen and "Bibi."

"He's my son. I hope he'll come back some day," she said wistfully of the hot-headed prince.

Renounced Rights.

"Zizi" was his morganatic first life, Jeanne Lambrino: dark-eyed daughter of a Rumanian army colonel, whose love spurred Carol to leave his regiment during the World war and made him renounce his rights to the throne of his Hohenzollern ancestry; whose love-scorned fury eventually led her to "picket" Carol's villa in France and have their small son scream endlessly before the gate, "Papa! Papa! Papa. . ."

Helen was Princess Elena of Greece; the pale, embittered mother of Carol's second son, 18-year-old King Mihai V, who ascended the Rumanian throne Sept. 6 for a second time after a three-year reign as the world-famed "boy king" during Carol's exile in the late 1920's.

And "Bibi" . . .

It was a sulky, gloom-ridden Carol who stared out the train window that New Year's Eve in Paris in 1925.

Once again, his madcap pursuit of a commoner's daughter had clashed with the stern will of his mother, Queen Marie. His affair with the voluptuous Magda Lupescu had become the scandal of Bucharest.

After three years of toeing the mark, married to Princess Elena of Greece, the crown prince had openly pursued the daughter of a humble Moldavian Jew, who first attracted his attention by tossing a bouquet into his motorcar in the streets of Bucharest. And Queen Marie, to break up the romance, had sent him packing off to London to attend a royal funeral.

Romance Revealed.

"His failure to return to Bucharest after attending the funeral of Dowager Queen Alexandra at London, Paris society hears, is due to a new love affair."

The dispatch said Carol had been discovered under the languorous skies of Italy, and that "the name of a prominent Italian society woman" was being coupled with his.

The royal palace at Bucharest immediately instructed Italian banks not to advance Prince Carol any money beyond first-class fare home to Bucharest—"single," including sleeper.

But it remained for the Milan newspaper Corrier, Della Dera to disclose the true identity of Carol's flame. Reporting his arrival in Milan, the newspaper said he was quickly joined by "an elegant young woman calling herself Princess Lupesco."

This was "Bibi."

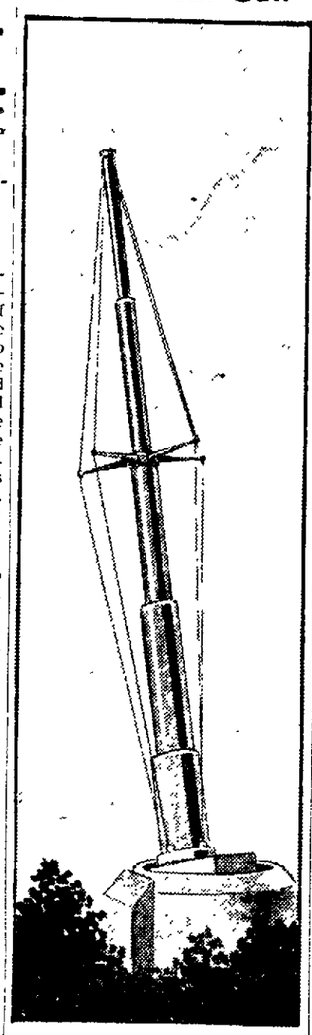
Ordered Home.

This was Magda Lupescu, who had appeared outside Carol's train window in Paris—a white, anxious face in the station gloom—and led to his disappearance.

Angrily, when the news came out, Queen Marie sent royal couriers to Milan, commanding Carol to return. But the crown prince refused. With "Bibi" as he affectionately called Mme. Lupescu, he fled to Ravenna, Turin, Venice and thence to the valley of the Orne, in France.

And at home, the tears of three women fell, the tears of Marie, Helen and "Zizi." . . .

Giant Nazi Gun



Here is an artist's conception of the giant German siege gun which is reported shelling London. The drawing was based on cabled descriptions of the gun which the British government insists does not exist. The gun, reports say, is held rigid by cables.

$8,000 Inheritance Tax Levied on Voegele Estate

A total of $8,337 in inheritance tax had been levied against the estate of the late Mrs. Anna E. Voegele, Mansfield, in probate court today.

Mrs. Voegele, who died last Dec. 26, left an estate valued at $156,585. She was the widow of Charles Voegele, former prominent Mansfield businessman.

Mrs. Voegele left the bulk of her estate to a number of nieces and nephews and the inheritance tax was levied against all of the bequests.

Administration cost was set at $6,000, while debts against the estate totaled $1,672. Charles Hughes and the late Dr. Charles Brown, Mansfield, were the executors.

CHEESE FIDDLE

LOGAN—(AP)—Lacking money to buy one, Elmer Neil and Glendale Robinson constructed a bull-fiddle out of cheese boxes, orange crates, a hickory limb, a mop handle, a washtub and an old fence post. It worked so well they took part in high school graduation exercises with the instrument.

CHAPTER XXII

When Dick left, Edwina put on the dusty yellow smock, went back to work at the books and said to Norman, "If you're curious, and can't help but be curious, Dick wanted to ask me some questions about some one I used to know here. I couldn't be very informative. Didn't know anything, Norman . . . ." Turning on the library ladder, she caught his eyes as he looked over a book at her. "Have you ever wanted revenge? That's a cheap, dramatic word—revenge . . . ."

He smiled. "Who hasn't? But when the time comes for the tables to be turned against your enemy, you're sorry for him. You're angry enough to kill a dog that bites you but if you see some one else abusing that same dog, it's a different story."

"The thing to do then is to get hurt last, not first."

Was she sorry for Alan? Her hands, shaking a little, moved slowly along the shelves. How could she be sorry for a thief? Sorry for Carol, of course, the innocent one to be dragged through the ugliness of a trial. And Carol would be loyal. If Carol's loyalty and love could be doubted, then Norman need not leave tonight. But they were not to be doubted for a hopeful moment, and it was better for him to go to New York rather than remain and be a helpless, miserable bystander during the trying days to come.

Why didn't she go, too, tonight with him? Why not escape it, too! The people from the library and museum to which she was giving her father's rare books and art treasures she could easily reach by letter, and she could come back for the final settlement and see Mr. Lane about the sale of the house after this horrible mess was over.

"Let's call it a day, Norman."

"But we haven't finished. I'm not going to run out and leave you with it."

"I'm running out on it myself. I'm going to New York with you."

"That's great. But why?"

In the short distance from the ladder to the rug she changed her mind. Her thoughts were still chaotic—like water rushing down a mountainside. Looking at Norman guiltily, she tried to smile.

"No. I'm not going. I can't—yet. I can't run out. It isn't wise for me to leave now."

"Then it's good-night to Newton, and au revoir to you."

"Won't you stay for a drink?"

"Thanks, no. I'd better be getting along. I'd like to give Benson a few hours' notice. He's such a capable man I'd like to take him to New York with me. I'm going to suggest that he drive my car back. I prefer the train this time. But I'll expect to see you in a couple of weeks or sooner. Your typing job will be waiting. Let me know when you're coming. No good-bye, please. I'm beginning to hate that word."

"I'll sneak in a 'Thank you' whether you like it or not."

Standing at the window, Edwina watched him go and the instant his car was out of sight she promptly and fondly forgot him. Removing the smock, she went to wash her hands and then went out to the terrace where the shadows had begun to mingle with the sunlight. A half-smoked cigarette she threw away; and she could not be still in the chair.

All afternoon she had put it from her—this unexplainable pity for Alan. And all afternoon it had rushed back to her. Voices spoke in her ear: Edwina, you fool! Let him take his medicine to the last bitter drop! He's a thief, a parasite!

But another voice said: But if I warn him, he'll have some defense and perhaps not everything he has worked for and everything Carol hopes for will be destroyed. And perhaps in some way I'm responsible for this. Who knows Alan's mind, the quirks of his introvert nature, the reason, the reason behind all this?

Alan in trouble gave her a strange sense of being a part of his life, making his trouble hers. Funny, the strength behind the words that a sleepy clergyman had said over them that night five years ago. Words you never forget and promises before God which created a vital bond that five years had not completely severed. She had been his wife and there was no other person who could say that.

Even as she went to look for her car keys, she thought: Edwina, you fool, you sentimental fool! Don't go! What does it matter what happens to a boy you loved and married five years ago? Stay and finish the books and have a leisurely bath and a good dinner and curl up on the chaise lounge in your room and listen to music and think about your new, decent, useful life. Alan wouldn't warn you! On the contrary, he'd do everything to harm you.

There were so many more reasons for not going than for going. . . . Yet she was outside now, hurrying to her car, starting the motor, passing between the stone pillars and pressing her foot hard on the accelerator as the open road stretched ahead.

In the business district of Newton she parked her car. She hurried into a drug store and went to the telephone directory for Alan's office address. On the street again, she heard the five o'clock whistles and presently she saw men and women pouring from stores and office buildings. Later she knew that in the crazy, fighting puzzle going on in her mind she had hoped as fervently that Alan would be gone as she hoped he would be in his office. See saw . . . see saw . . . People stared at her bare legs and hatless head. She wondered if she had a smudge on her nose.

On the elevator she said "Ninth, please" to the operator just as she caught a glimpse of her face in the mirror and saw that she looked frightened — like a thief, herself, running away. No, not a thief, but a betrayer of a confidence, and when she thought of Dick's trust in her she felt sick.

At the door bearing Alan's name in dignified black letters she did hesitate but went into a handsomely furnished waiting room. A sensible-looking middle-aged secretary was tidying her desk, her last act for the day.

The unexpected caller startled her for a moment. Then she asked pleasantly, "Yes?"

"Is Mr. Harding here?"

"Why, yes."

"Will you tell him that Miss Burke is here and that it's very important that I see him?"

The secretary's glance said it must be important for one to call after five o'clock.

As the secretary vanished into Alan's office, she thought: I suppose Mr. Hartley's money paid for this, too. . . .

The secretary came back, "Mr. Harding will see you, Miss Burke."

"Thank you."

Alan's office was handsomely furnished, too. Alan looked up from the blueprints spread across the large mahogany desk when he arose to greet her, his keen blue eyes asking questions.

"What can I do for you, Edwina?"

She took a deep breath. "I haven't come to ask you to do anything for me. Aren't you going to ask me to sit down? I'm rather breathless . . ." Because she was shaking so and the beating of her heart had risen to her throat.

"Certainly. Won't you sit down?" he asked, inclining his head toward a green leather chair.

As she caught her breath and steadied her hands on the arms of the chair, he sat down and folded the blueprints carefully. Then, with another questioning glance, he waited for her to speak. . . .

She said simply, "Mr. Hartley knows, Alan. He sent for Dick Fenton in New York and Dick is with him now. You're going to be arrested for embezzlement . . ."

He did not move. He just sat there staring at her, the late afternoon sun that poured through the windows turning his fair hair into gold.

She said, "Dick told me. He thought perhaps I'd seen quite a lot of you this summer and could have thrown some light on your activities and financial situation. You're in a bad spot. Public sentiment in this case will be all against you. A helpless blind old man—and you robbed him."

He shielded his face with his hands and his voice had no malice, no hate in it but only weariness when he asked hoarsely, "Why did you come to tell me?"

"Will you always think of me as an impetuous eighteen-year-old trying to buy my way? People grow up, Alan, and I've grown up. And if you really want to know about me, I'm—I'm broke. I'm selling the house to clean up my debts and I'm going to New York to take a typing job in Norman Alexander's office. The Edwina Burke you knew isn't any more. For five years I felt like a thief. I stole something I had no right to—you. Now you know how it feels . . ."

'39 RESIDENTIAL BUILDING IN CITY SETS TEN-YEAR RECORD

Residential construction in Mansfield in 1939 reached a 10-year high in valuations and in the number of homes built, C. J. Ryan, vice president of the Investors Syndicate at Minneapolis, reported today. Ryan's report, based on a survey made by the firm, also showed that the homes were built at the lowest per person cost in the 10-year period.

"Mansfield," Ryan said, "provided new homes last year for 980 people, a gain of 352, or 56 per cent over 1938, when new residences were erected for 628 persons."

He reported that the increase last year was 153 per cent above the 1930 mark.

Ryan said the snydicate's survey showed that new homes constructed last year represented 27 per cent of total residential construction for the nine-year period.

As compared to the volume peak of 980 in 1939, the low was in 1933, when only 80 people built new homes, he said.

New homes build in Mansfield last year were valued at $1,181,500, as compared with the 1938 total of $755,550 and the 1930 figure of $90,000.

"Average per-person new residential cost in 1939 was $1,104," Ryan said, "a drop of $99, or 8.3 per cent from the 1938 level of $1,203.

He reported that the cost in 1939 was $24 lower than in 1930 when the average was $1,128. The cost peak during the 10-year period was $1,471 in 1935.

SEEKS TO LEASE PART OF PLAYLOT

The proposal filed with Council Clerk William J. Beer, jr., was submitted by William F. Bottomly, 131 Snyder street.

Bottomly's communication asks council to grant him a five-year lease on the Ashland road frontage of a playground just northeast of the Mansfield Armory with option of renewal.

In his request for a rental price, he proposes to build a restaurant and bunk house for truckers. His letter said he also plans to install a gasoline pump.

Enclosed with a diagram of the proposed building, his communication said that no intoxicating liquor would be sold in the establishment.

THEATERS

Rosemary Lane as Singer.

"Ladies Must Live" showing Friday only at the Ohio is adapted for the screen by Robert Kent from the play by George M. Cohan. It is the story of a night-club crooner, played by Rosemary Lane, who falls in love with a young farmer, Wayne Morris' role. Two new tunes are introduced—"I Could Make You Care" and "It Shows You What Love Can Do."

New Type of Mystery Thriller.

"The Mummy's Hand" which is showing at the Madison through Friday, traces the weird adventures of an expeditionary group searching for the tomb of an Egyptian princess. Dick Foran and Peggy Moran appear in the romantic leads. This is from the original story by Griffin Jay. The co-feature is "The House Across the Bay," co-starring Joan Bennett and George Raft.

Love On a Budget.

Love on a budget is the theme of "Saturday's Children," which is playing beginning Friday at the Ritz. John Garfield and Anne Shirley are in the co-starring roles. Featured with them are Claude Rains, Roscoe Karns, Lee Patrick and George Tobias. The story is taken from the Maxwell Anderson play of that name which was a Pulitzer prize winner. The second feature is "Lucky Cisco Kid" which stars Cesar Romero as a gay rogue.

Scotland Yard Investigator.

The lovable but shrewd investigator of Scotland Yard, known to colleagues and the underworld alike, as the clever and crafty Mr. Reeder, played by Will Fyffe, is assigned to break up a gang of counterfeiters which is flooding the market with phoney money. This happens in "The Mysterious Mr. Reeder," which is playing at the Park, along with "Legion of the Lawless," starring George O'Brien and Virginia Vale.

Terror Rides the Road.

CHILDREN TO SHARE ESTATE

The will of Mrs. Mary A. Casad, filed in probate court today, leaves her personal and real property to be divided equally among her four children, Edwin Casad and James Herlihy were named executors.

Children sharing the property are Mrs. Mabel C. Herlihy, Edwin C. Casad and Harry J. Casad and Leo Casad. The real estate consists of interest in a 119-acre farm in Indiana.
